Investigators Learn That Hull May Have Gone To Parley Without Knowing Reply Was Intercepted

MARSHALL IS RECALLED

BULLETIN

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, flushing with anger, asserted today the army commander in Hawaii was given a "definite" alert order before the Japanese attacked Dec. 7, 1941, and that he felt that he could expect it would be carried out. Marshall testified before the senate-house committee investigationg the attack. Previously, the investigators had learned that Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, the Hawaiian commander, established only an anti-sabotage alert in response to a warning message Nov. 27 from Washington.

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—General George C. Marshall said today that American bombers would have been justified in sinking any Japanese ships that appeared in Hawaiian waters before the war began.

Marshall told the senate-house committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, that the appearance of such vessels would have been "an overt act."

As Marshall returned to the stand for the seventh day, the committee learned that former Secretary of State Hull may have gone to his last conference with Japanese "peace" envoys Dec. 7, 1941, without knowing of their diplomatic reply which had been intercepted and decoded.

An affidavit submitted to the committee showed that the 14-part Japanese message—described by some witnesses as a tipoff that war was near—was delivered to the state department by an army officer just as Hull me Ambassadors Saburo Kurusu and Kichisaburo Nomura.

Marshall also said, in reply to a question, that he thought a flight of foreign planes over Hawaii would have been an overt act.

Marshall noted that the Nov. 27 message, while expressing the desire that Japan make the first overt act, specifically told the overseas commanders they were not committed to a course of action which would "jeopardize" your defense."

Questioning of Marshall about when he received the important 14-point message has been extensive. Several witnesses have said that the 14tn part, combined with a message to the Japanese to deliver at at 1 p. m., Washington time, was the tip that hostile action was imminent.

Whether Hull ever read any of the 14 parts before he talked to the Japanese remained unclear in affidavits collected by Lt. Col. Henry C. Clausen. Clausen was

Police Minus Clue In Lipstick Death

Chicago, Dec. 13—(AP)—Police investigators rounding up one suspect after another still were without a definite break today in the lipstick slaying Monday of Miss Frances Brown, 33, a former Wave, in her North Side hotel apartment.

There was one flurry when a man whose wife asked police to take him to the psychopathic hospital muttered to detectives that he wanted to "get something off my chest." Detectives Charles Steffen reported, however, that most of the man's statements were incoherent.

It developed his sister lives in an apartment adjacent to that of Miss Brown, but the man's wife said he had not left his home in two weeks.

Numerous other suspects, among them men with sex crime records, were cleared almost as fast as they were picked up and questioned.

Miss Brown's nude body, shot twice and stabbed twice, was found draped over the edge of the bathtub in her tiny apartment. On the wall of the living room, scrawled in lipstick, was the message:

"For heaven's sake catch me before I kill more. I can not control myself."

Housing Boss

President Truman has appointed Wilson W. Wyatt, above, former mayor of Louisville, Ky., to be national "housing expediter," a new position. Wyatt will supervise the president's program designed to relieve the nation-wide housing shortage.

Drama of War Unfolded In Naval Files

By POPE HALEY

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—One of the great dramas of the war—the loss of the light cruiser Juneau and the harrowing experiences of her handful of ten survivors—has been pieced together from scattered sources in navy department files.

The final casualty toll in the ship's loss was 37 officers and 647 enlisted men, either dead or missing in action.

The Juneau was just eight months in service when she was mortally wounded in her second major action in the battle of Guadalcanal, which marked the end of Japanese aggression to the south.

Crippled by a torpedo, the Juneau was forced to retire from action. Later the same day, November 13, 1942, she was again torpedoed. She sank within a minute. Among the victims were the five Sullivan brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan, of Waterloo, Iowa.

When the water calmed after the ship went under, the small group of survivors huddled on and around life rafts, life floats and debris.

A grim night followed, during which several of the group died. The next day sharks attacked, and one man had the skin ripped off one hand by a savage shark. That day a plane roared overhead and dropped an uninflated rubber raft about two hundred yards away. Despite the sharks, Signalman First Class Joseph P. J. Hartney, New Britain, Conn., decided to swim for it.

"The sharks were cowards," he related later. "All I had to do was kick my feet when they came at me and they were scared away."

Former Corry Man Dies Driving Car

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Joseph Downs, 61, of Allison Park, died from a heart attack at the wheel of his automobile here yesterday and his car, going out of control, crashed into a tree, severely injuring his wife, Clara.

John S. Aldisert, deputy coronenr, reported that Downs was pronounced dead by a coroner's physician at a residence near where he suffered the attack.

Mrs. Downs was taken to Allegheny General Hospital with fractured right leg and chest injuries. Her condition was described as fair.

The Downs formerly lived in Corry.

Downs was a retired railroad dispatcher.

The couple were returning to their home in Ferguson avenue, Allison Park, from Etna, at the time.

Downs had celebrated his sixty-first birthday Sunday. A grandson died a few hours after birth last Friday.

RIVER CAPTAIN PROMOTED

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Dravo Corporation announces appointment of Charles T. Campbell, prominent operator of river fleets here for many years, as assistant to the firm's president. Campbell was also elected vice president of the Union Barge Line, a Dravo affiliate.

STEEL UNION DENIES PACT IS VIOLATED

General Counsel Declares In Formal Resolution That Workers Are Within Right In Planning Strike

INTERVENTION IS HINTED

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Supported by an opinion from their general counsil Lee Pressman, the CIO-United Steel Workers declared in a formal resolution they are within their contract rights in going ahead with plans for a nation-wide strike Jan. 14.

The strike, set for Jan. 14 by the U. S. W.'s 175-man wage policy committee, to enforce the union's demand for a $2 a day wage increase.

A resolution, adopted by the same committee late yesterday, asserted the union "has meticulously adhered to the terms of the contract and will continue to do so."

At news conference, Phillip Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steel Workers, held out no hope the union will take any new step to avert a strike.

Asked if government intervention might halt a walkout, Murray said the union would accept a government invitation to negotiate with a federal labor conciliator present—if the U. S. Steel Corp. would also accept the invitation.

Such action, Murray said, would at least postpone the strike.

The steelworkers' head had "no comment" when asked what sis union would do should legislation proposed by President Truman to curb strikes be adopted before Jan. 14.

Defending the demand for a $2 a day raise, the CIO president declared average weekly earnings for steel workers are now about $46, a drop of $11 since the war's end.

The wage policy committee, in its resolution, answered a charge by the Iron and Steel Institute that steelworkers' contracts contained a clause "wherein the union agrees not to strike during the life of the contract." The contracts expire in October, 1946.

The union contended the clause permits it to "reopen the contract for a general wage increase upon a change in national wage policy," and added such a change "has been announced and the War Labor Board, in a unanimous resolution, has expressly decognized that the union is free to bargain with respect to a general wage increase."

Installment Car Sales Is Under Probe

Harrisburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—Reinforced in its impression of "exorbitant" financing charges in the installment purchases of automobiles, a legislative committee set its staff today to analyzing stacks of records as a basis for a report to the public.

Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, chairman, and State Senator John M. Walker, vice-chairman, said afteh a committee session yesterday that a "quick analysis" upheld the committee's earlier findings.

The information is being amassed from application forms for transfer of certificates of title. They break down the interest and other financing charges. Lichtenwalter said "we feel that's where one of the main sharp practices is taking place."

After the study is completed, automobile dealers, finance companies and others dealing in consumer credit "whose information on the applications seems to be out of line with accepted business practices" will be called in to explain charges", Lichtenwalter said.

"These automobile finance companies are still charging exhorbitant rates," said Walker. "The buyer should insist on knowing the rate of interest he is obliged to pay on his unpaid balance, and he should demand proof of it."

The 1945 legislature authorized the committee to investigate and make recommendations to the next session of the general assembly. It will have another meeting in January, and start public hearings in February.

Election Reform Is Planned In Japan

By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokio, Dec. 13—(AP)—Election reform legislation revolutionnary in Japanese history is expected to be passed by the house of peers—probably tomorrow—as a first step toward proportionate representation.

While the diet whestled with political reform, General MacArthur attacked on the economic front, directing the Japanese government to inaugurate a broad relief program to provide food, clothing, housing, medical care, financial aid and welfare services for unemployed this winter.

The relief plan, when ready, must be submitted in detail for Allied approval. The government also was ordered to take all necesstry steps to prevent discrimination in distribution of food.

Human Head is Grim Exhibit of Atrocities Perpetrated in Nazi Concentration Camp

BARBARIC TROPHIES ADDED TO EVIDENCE OFFERED AGAINST 21 TOP GERMAN WAR CHIEFS

Jew-Baiter Julius Streicher, Alone of the Defendants, Remains Unmoved As Others Avert Eyes From Grisly Display at Trial

U. S., BRITISH PARACHUTISTS REPORTED HANGED

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Nuernberg, Dec. 13—(AP)—A preserved head and lamp shades made of human skin were presented as evidence of atrocities in Nazi concentration camps at the war crimes trial of 21 top German war leaders today.

The grisly exhibits were added to the Germans' own records of murder and brutality placed before the four-power international military tribunal by Allied prosecutors charging the once-powerful Nazi warlords with "crimes against humanity."

The preserved head, shrunk to the size of a baseball and resembling the war trophy of an aboriginal head hunter, was that of a Pole who had been caught fraternizing with a German girl.

The three pieces of human skin tanned into parchment for lampshades for the wife of SS Standartenfuehrer Koch came from victims at Buchenwald selected because of their "artistic" tattooing, according to an affidavit by a former inmate of the concentration camp.

Jew-baiter Julius Streicher, alone of all the defendants, remained unmoved. The others averted their eyes but from time to time stole glances at the barbaric trophies.

The "death ledgers" of the Mauthausen concentration camp recorded the deaths of more than 35,000 inmates from 1939 to 1945. On March 19, 1945, 203 persons died in 12 hours, the records showed.

Mauthausen was the camp where Joseph Morton, Associated Press war correspondent, according to available evidence, was executed last winter on the signed order of Secret Police Chief Ernst Kaltenbrunner, one of the 21 defendants. An American army investigator declared that the camp "was conducted with the sole purpose in mind of exterminating any so-called prisoner who entered within its walls."

Another report said 13 American and British parachutists were hanged at the Flossenberg concentration camp after their capture.

A sttaement from a Budapest Zionist leader disclosed that Hungarian Jews who were too young or too old to serve as slave laborers were automatically consigned to death in concentration camp gas chambers.

American prosecutors, supporting the charge against 21 Nazi leaders of "crimes against humanity", introduced the affidavit of Rudolph Kastner, leader of a Hungarian Zionist organization, reporting SS troops seized 475,000 Hungarian Jews in 1944 and transported them to the reich in "death trains."

"Children up to the age of 12 or 14 and older people above 50 as well as the sick or people with criminal records were taken immediately on their arrival (at Oswiecim concentration camp) to the gas chambers," Kastner declared in his affidavit.

The others passed before an SS doctor who, on sight, indicated who was fit for work and who was not. Those unfit were sent to the gas chambers while the others distributed in various labor camps."

Disclosing another breach of international law by the Germans, U. S. Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd produced a secret S.S. order showing the high commana had dirdected that prisoners of war who escaped and were later recaptured should be transported to the Mauthausen prison camp and their fate kept secret from the international Red Cross.

Jap Skipper Is Questioned At Court Martial

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Iko Hashimoto, a Japanese submarine cqmmander, told a navy court martial today his ship fired three torpedoes into a "dark object" which it sighted 290 miles from Palau on the night of July 29-30.

His submarine had been trailing its target for 27 minutes, the witness related.

He said he fired torpedoes in salvos of three at three-second intervals and saw three hits through his periscope.

Hashimoto was admitted as a witness despite vigorous objection by defense counsel for Capt. Charles B. McVay, 3rd, being tried on charges of negligence and inefficiency in the loss of his heavy cruiser, the Indianapolis, that night en route from Guam to Leyte.

The court admitted the Japanese officer as a witness after ruling it was proper to subject him to a double oath. He was given both the standard oath prescribed by U. S. naval procedure, as well as that used in Japanese court martial.

Byrnes Is Delayed By Bad Weather

By REMBERT JAMES

Moscow, Dec. 13—(AP)—A United States embassy spokesman said today that U. S. Secretary of State Bynes and his party, enroute here for three-power talks, had been delayed by bad weather.

He said the group might arrive as late as Sunday.

Previously, Byrnes had been expected to arrive today.

(The French press agency said Byrnes had arrived in Paris, a report that was confirmed by an official at Orly Field, chief military airport. Considerable secrecy attended his arrival and the field was cleared of all personnel well before his plane touched ground.)

Great public interest in Russia centered on the forthcoaming conference of Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and Foreign Commissar Molotov.

Paris, Dec. 13—(AP)—The French News Agency reported today that Secretary of State Byrnes, en route to the Moscow conference, had arrived in Paris.

Officials at Orly Field, principal military airport, declined comment.

Better Plan To Get Out the Snow Shovel

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Western Pennsylvania may look for a substantial snowfall tonight and tomorrow, the weather bureau said today.

The storm swirled eastward through Indianapolis last night and Columbus, O., this morning, and was expected to hit this area either during the late afternoon or early evening. A temperature drop to 27 degrees was expected.

In its wake the storm left at least two inches of snow throughout the central states.

Labor Bills Sidetracked For Present

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—Congress members, aligned with the big unions against pending labor legislation voiced satisfaction today that they had one measure headed for the boneyard and another stalled off at least until next year.

Representatives who fought unsuccessfully to head off house approval of a bill making unions liable under the 1934 anti-racketeering act said they were confident it would die in the senate.

As for President Truman's proposal of a law blocking strikes for 30 days while fact-finding boards look into labor disputes, house and senate leaders said privately they still thought chances were mighty slim congress would get around to it before the Christmas recess.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday he had reason to believe the measure would be enacted before the holiday, as he requested.

Even Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, a backer of the president's proposal, conceded however, that if the senate labor committee went ahead with plans to call about 100 witnesses no immediate action was in sight.

Schwellenbach testified for the bill at the senate group's hearing yesterday. In the meanwhile AFL resident William Green opposed it at a house labor committee hearing. Today they switched committees.

The house gave one-sided approval yesterday to an amendment which would make unions punishable for "robbery or extortion" within the scope of the 1934 act. But Rep. Marcantonio (Amn. Lab. N. Y.) remarked today that a similar bill failed to clear a senate committee last year and declared: "The same thing will happen again."

Another controversy with labor angles—the so-called "full employment" issue—reached the stage of house debate today.

MOTHER ACQUITTED IN DEATH OF HER BABE

Greensburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—A jury of nine men and three women last night acquitted Mrs. Emma Fabry, 21, of West Leechburg, of a murder charge in connection with the death of her new-born daughter last May 21.

The jury deliberated four hours and 55 minutes and returned its verdict to Judge Richard D. Laird.

The state claimed that after the baby was born, to a man other than her husband, she strangled it and placed it in a pile of straw. Mrs. Fabry denied she choked the infant, or had intended to choke it.

FAIR TO BE RESUMED

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Discontinued four years ago because of the war, Allegheny county's annual fair at South Park, will be resumed in 1946, county commissioners decided yesterday.

Recluse Leaves A Quarter Million

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—"Old Bill, the trader," who never seemed to have more than enough money for coffee and doughnuts, may have left a quarter million dollar fortune, relatives said today.

"Old Bill" wasn't really Bill at all, though that was the name the 77-year-old man was given by barbers whose scissors he sharpened.

His real name was Fred Goldsmith but few knew it until his death in his simply-furnished room in a lodging house.

A brother, Alex Goldsmith, estimated the extent of Fred's fortune but even he will not know until a court order is obtained to open "Old Bill's" safety deposit box in a bank.

Deputy coroners said Goldsmith left bank books showing deposits of $13,000 and that he paid taxes on stocks and bonds valued at $70,000. Brother Alex said Fred's will, made in 1925, left "sizeable amounts" to local charities, including the Salvation Army, the Jewish Home for Babies, and the Home for Crippled Children.

No Immediate Settlement Of Dispute Between Union and Auto Industry Is In Prospect

By the Associated Press

The long and bitter wage dispute between the CIO United Auto Workers Union and the automotive industry's "Big Three" continued today without any indication of immediate settlement.

There was some hope, however, that intervention of President Truman in the 23-day-old strike at General Motors might hasten efforts of the union and the company to reach an agreement.

Union officials have expressed the belief a settlement with either General Motors, Ford Motor Company or the Chrysler Corporation would set a pattern which would aid in solving disputes with the others.

Today's negotiations by the union were with General Motors. Other union officials, their demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase rejected by Ford yesterday, mapped further plans for discussions at tomorrow's conference.

Today's union-GM session was to be confined largely to discussion of the company's charge of "illegal picketing" at some of the more than 70 strike-bound plants where 213,000 workers have been idle since Nov. 21.

President Truman's appointment of a fact-finding board in the General Motors' dispute brought a prompt pledge of cooperation from union leaders, although the union earlier had opposed government intervention in the strike. Comment was withheld by General Motors.

The Ford Company, in rejecting the union's wage demands, said that on the basis of OPA price ceilings and with no increases in wages it would lose about $35,000,000 next year.

As continuing labor disputes throughout the country kept idle some 400,000 workers, a nation-wide strike vote was taken today among a union-estimated 200,000 CIO Electrical Workers.

A work stoppage by 60 bus drivers and 15 mechanics employed by the Potomac Edison Company disrupted transportation in Cumberland, Md., a city of 40,000 population. An AFL union official said company refusal to abritrate resulted in a breakdown of contract negotiations.

The AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America is seeking wages of $1.10 an hour as against the current scale of 87 cents an nour.

Housing Need In State To Be Surveyed

Harrisburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—The state housing board rushed ahead today with plans to determine the existing need for new homes in Pennsylvania and ascertain the factors currently impending a comprehensive housing program.

The board, acting concurrently with President Truman's move to break the bottleneck of the housing shortage at the national level, will conduct a survey to find out how many homes costing less than $10,000 per unit are now under construction or are planned for construction in communities throughout the state.

Chairman Ritchie Lawrie, Jr., said after a board meeting yesterday that private and public agencies and officials, including mayors and burgesses, will be asked to estimate the scope of shortage.

He declined to comment on President Truman's appointment of a housing "czar" and proposed establishment of ceiling prices on old and new homes.

The board also requested communities with serious housing shortages take steps immediately to form a housing authority to work with the state group.

Hanging Is Sentence For Camp Guards

Dachau, Dec. 13—(AP)—A U. S. military court today sentenced 36 officials and guards at the notorious Dachau concentration camp to death by hanging for the murder, torture and starvation of thousands of the camp's inmates.

Another defendant was sentenced to life imprisonment and three others were sentenced to terms of 10 years each.

The 40 defendants were convicted yesterday by the military tribunal, which debated only 90 minutes before bringing in its verdict. Among those convicted were five camp doctors and three prisoners who had collaborated with the S. S.

Witnesses at the trial said that 5,000 Jews were killed at Dachau, that inmates were brutally beaten, that naked men were immersed in ice wate for experiments and that some men were sent to the crematory while still alive.

The camp was the most notorious and most feared of the concentration camps set up by the Nazis for political prisoners.

The men who operated the horror camp received their sentences calmly for the most part, only a few showing any change of expression.

The life sentence went to Peter Betz, a guard, against whom there was little evidence of personal cruelty. Ten-year terms were given Hugo Lausterer, who was drafted into the S. S., and against whom no personal accusations of cruelty were made; and Johann Schoepp, who was drafted from the Romanian army by the S. S. and assignend to guard the Dachau tower.

Dr. Klaus Karl Schilling, 74, who killed many prisoners in experiment through which he sought a malaria vaccine, and S. S. Officer Martin Weiss, commandant of the camp, were among the 36 sentenced to die.

Schilling, who last week begged the court for time to complete his experimental records, blinked his eyes rapidly and bowed his bearded head when he heard the words: "Death by hanging."

US Not Committed In July of 1941

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—Pearl Harbor investigators learned today that Gen. George C. Marshall and Adm. Harold R. Stark told British military leaders in July, 1941, that they could not commit the United States to go to war if Japan attacked British or Dutch territory.

The senate-house committee investigating Japan's Dec. 7, 1941 attack was given a Marshall-Stark memorandum on their reasons for refusing to approve a report on American - Dutch-British conversations held at Singapore in April of that year.

Marshall and Stark, contending that the report contained "political matters," cited a paragraph saying:

"Our collective military strength can only be developed fully if our government agree to act together, should any of them judge that the Japanese have taken action which necessitated active military counter-action."

Foreign Loans Discussed By Martin At Grange Meeting

Clearfield, Dec. 13—(AP)—The idea of making loans to foreign countries to stimulate U. S. markets "is economically unsound," Governor Martin asserted today, but, he said, "loans can be made to buy surplus products to feed the hungry of the world."

"Such loans should be made in a businesslike manner," the governor sadi in an address prepared for a meeting of the Pennsylvania Grange.

"We should help feed the hungry, as a matter of common humanity," Martin went on. "We can count also on the favor and good will of these unfortunate people in the coming years. This can help in creating a union of nations for preserving world peace. At the same time, it will give us a real market and an honest market for our surpluses."

The governor said "the wise farmer knows that subsidies and legislation will not do the job. x x x The job can be done only by more efficient methods, by cutting costs of production with mechanized equipment, the use of fertilizer, by scientific methods, and by brains and sweat."

On the subject of grants to veterans, Martin said:

"We still favor giving them every possible opportunity. The families of those who made the supreme sacrifice must be supported. The sick and the incapacitated must have every care that money, skill and loving hands can give.

In all these things, however, we must all bear in mind that the veterans of this war will eventually pay one-half of all the costs of government. They are the cream of the crop, the workers and doers of tomorrow. Eventually they will pay the bill."

At yesterday's meeting the Grange conferred the sixth degree upon a class of 800 members. Officials said it was the first time in 11 years that a sixth degree ceremony was held in Pennsylvania.

About 1,000 persons attending the convention heard an address by National Lecturer James C. Farmer of New Hampshire.

Newspapers In State Short Of Newsprint Will Be Aided

Harrisburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—Daily and weekly newspapers in Pennsylvania facing suspension because of a critical newsprint shortage received assurance of aid today under a plan announced by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Publishers with sufficient inventories are being asked by the PNPA to furnish the equivalent of not more than three per cent of their 1945 consumption to help others who are in desperate need of newsprint.

PNPA Manager William N. Hardy said no newspaper will have as much newsprint as it could use for the first half of 1946, yet "many of they have offered to heup any paper facing suspension."

A statement issued by the PNPA said that newspapers will end 1945 with the lowest end-of-the-year newsprint inventories in more than five years.

Not more than 98 per cent of the tonnage used in the first six months of 1941 will be available in the first six months of 1946, the statement said.

All publishers of newspapers as defined by the Pennsylvania Newspaper advertising act of 1925 are eligible, Hardy said.

Children Can Help

Manager George Sarvis, cooperating with the agencies which are sponsoring the local collection of canned foods for overseas relief, has arranged a gala holiday event for the younger fry at Warner Brothers' Library Theatre. The date set is one week from Saturday, December 22, and admission to a big show for the boys and girls will be one No. 2 can of food. The film secured by Mr. Sarvis for this special theatre party is "Here Comes Elmer", and with it will be shown a number of animated cartoons sure to delight every child in attendance. Mothers will welcome the opportunity of doing last-minute shopping or attending to their preparations for the holiday while the younger members of the family are safe and happily entertained at this theatre benefit.

Mr. Sarvis and the four boy and girl agencies who have set a goal of three tons of food for overseas shipment are hoping to see every seat filled for the performance, since by this means it is expected to add more than one-half ton to the total. Children of Warren have proved on many past occasions that they will rise to the occasion, their school collection on Tuesday of this week netting more than 1,500 cans for overseas shipment. Benefit parties of other seasons have brought in everything from potatoes to lumps of coal—now let the tin cans roll in!

End of Christianity Seems To Have Been the Goal of Hitler

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London, Dec. 13—Ever since my tour of Germany at the time of the fateful Munich conference in 1938 this column has repeatedly insisted that Hitler deliberately set about to destroy Christianity in the Fatherland, substituting the pagan creed under which he himself was a messiah, because he realized that no Christian would support his plot of murder and enslavement in Europe.

Concrete evidence that this was indeed the Nazi anti-Christ's program has now been placed in my hands here in London. This is in the form of an amazing secret report recently discovered in the files of the reich security department, in Berlin, and because I regard it as of the highest importance I am breaking in on our daily account of life in the British Isles in order to report it here. It represents one of the great Allied problems in the rehalibilitation of Hitlerized Germany.

This document, which was for official guidance, analyzed the operations of the Oxford group (moral rearmament) under leadership of Dr. Frank Buchman, and warned that it was dangerous to Nazidom as an instrument of Christianity. The official files in Berlin also disclosed that directives for the suppression of the Oxford group in both Germany and in occupied countries were issued on the strength of this document.

"The Oxford group," says the document, "as a whole constitutes an attack upon the nationalism of the state, and demands the utmost watchfulness on the part of the state. It preaches revolution against the national state and has quite evidently become its Christian opponent."

Finally, in one brutally blunt line, it discloses the fuehrer's purpose to smash Christianity in Germany: "They (the Oxford group) encourage their members to place themselves fully beneath the Christian cross, and to oppose the cross of the swastika with the cross of Christ, as the former (the swastika) seeks to destroy the cross of Christ."

The report reveals that the secret police regarded the Oxford group as a force working "to bring about new political and ideological conditions in the reich. x x x at the very moment we (Nazi officialdom) are making efforts to suppress Christian conviction of sin, which is regarded as the first step towards the enslavement of the Germans, a movement is emanating from the Anglo-Saxons, who are racially related to us, which regards just this consciousness of sin as a basis for a change in personal and national relationships."

The document stresses the bond between democracy and Christianity, and says that "the Oxford group supplies the Christian religious garment for world democratic aims. It adds:

"The group and the democracies supplement each other and render each other's work fruitful. They face the common enemy, that is, all nationalistic conceptions of life which democracy opposes and fights because of its political ideology, the Oxford group opposes because of its primitive Christian arguments. Their common opposition to the modern conception of race and nation has brought them still closer together.

Leo A. Dorsey Commended As Civilian

"Mr. Leo A. Dorsey, for outstanding and meritorious service as telephone engineer, signal office, headquarters Third Service Command since July 1942. Through capable application of sound engineering skill and a clear understanding of each problem, he has ably assisted in the successful and expeditious completion of the many telephone construction projects necessitated by the tremendous communications expansions within this service command. Mr. Dorsey has demonstrated his ability to work with commercial and military representatives without friction. His careful judgments, tactful approach, total disregard of personal comfort, and proved loyalty reflect great credit to himself, his organization, and the service command."

HOW WE EARN
Farm Journal

Farmers trade food for clothes and shoes and automobiles. City people trade clothes and shoes and automobiles for food.

The facts about how we trade and prosper are partly clouded by two things—by faith in money and by faith in laws.

Money is a handy means of trading and of storing up work to trade off later. We have to use it but, however, money enters into the deal, actually we trade work and goods for work and goods.

Laws are needed to keep order. We have got into the habit of trying to use laws to fix everything that goes wrong, or that we don't quite understand. Neither laws nor money can change natural facts.

Suddenly double the supply of money. Give everybody twice as much. Will that double the supply of food? Certainly not.

Pass a law that says one hog must buy one suit of clothes, or one suit of clothes must buy one hog. What will happen? The farmer will offer the skinniest hog that is legal, and the tailor will try to get by with the shoddiest suit of clothes he can. Both will be worse off.

Give the farmer more money for fewer hogs and the tailor more money for fewer suits—still neither is better off.

Farm politicians talk about parity. Labor politicians talk about pay and hours. Business politicians want something else. Each tries to out-trade the other by getting more money for his goods and work than the other fellow gets.

We are all pretty nearly broke in America. We owe about $8,000.00 per family.

We are short of goods—goods that only work will make. The more we fight about who gets the biggest slice, the less pie there will be. We can't quarrel and produce at the same time.

All that we really earn is what we produce. Wouldn't less argument and more work get us all more goods sooner?

To have more shoes and clothes and automobiles and food somebody has got to go to work to produce these things we all need. And no laws, no monkeying with money, will make less into more. No one can eat money nor wear laws.

THEY SOUNDED GOOD ON THE AIR

Editor and Publisher makes a point, editorially, about New York Mayor LaGuardia's new radio contract at a "fabulous salary," to become effective when he leaves the public service January.

The newspaperman's magazine theorizes that La Guardia, "The Hat," may have had a "personal economic" reason for making a whipping boy out of the press during his regime at New York's city hall—and particularly in recent years. Some observers had felt LaGuardia had "whipped" the newspapers for political reasons, says the Meadville Tribunne-Republican.

Newspapers have become a popular target of criticism—particularly from public officials—and LaGuardia continnually added his two cents' worth in his weekly radio talks delivered while in the mayor's chair. Several examples of LaGuardia's criticism, "with little or no reason," were cited, and Editor and Publisher asserts—with our complete approval—that "a lot of his words about the press came out, not because they were true, but because they sounded good on the air."

With hundreds of Warren folk boosting the project to make this area a great playground and summer resort wouldn't it be a grand idea to have a booklet of some sort to send the folk showing the beauty of this region. It certainly would help if tourists could see in pictures what they could enjoy in reality if they visited Warren.

The Vermont Phoenix, of Brattleboro, Vt., considering the activities of statesmen, politicians, organized labor and organized management, says that all sum up in the simple sentence: "Let me at that trough." A philosopher come to judgment!

The easiest way to induce a youngster to go to bed is to let him stay up just a little longer.

Victory Train Starts Bond Tour

Lieut. Col. William F. Kramer, Pittsburgh, explains to Clifford Hornung, Lovell, Pa., and Bernice Isaacs, Washington, D. C., some of the heretofore secret points about captured Japanese weapons which were used against our fighting forces in the Pacific. These are only a part of the exciting exhibits to be seen on this and five other trains which are to tour the United States on behalf of the Victory Bond drive. On hand to demonstrate and explain the exhibits will be about 25 Marine officers and men, beribboned veterans of every major Marine engagement on Pacific islands. Some of the equipment to be shown includes large guns, tanks, weasels, giant searchlights, an amphibious tractor, and other heavy pieces. This train will visit our city today from 5 to 9 p. m. Admission is free.

Marine Victory Loan Train Arrives In Warren Today

Don't miss the Victory Loan Train which arrives in Warren today. It's three flat cars and two baggage cars contain an array of military equipment that will take your breath away. Many of the weapons of war about which you've read and wanted to see will be on those cars. This may be your only opportunity to see the actual guns and equipment used by the Marines in World War II. Never before have the Marines brought together for display such a large and representative group of guns, bombs, ammunition and weapons of all types.

The train which comes to Warren through the cooperation of the Nation's railroads, the Marine Corps and the Warren War Finance Committee will be at the Pennsylvania Railroad Freight Depot, Fourth Avenue and Public Way, between 5 p. m. and 9 p. m.

No admission will be charged and you will not be asked to buy bonds there but don't forget there's nothing like a Victory Bond for an extra special Christmas gift. In no other way can you so completely express your friendship and regard for those you remember on Christmas day.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1925

Christmas wreaths are now on the market, and many attractive designs from ground pine are finding a ready sale. Lack of snow on the ground makes the work of gathering much easier this year.

Harold Johnson and Howard Potts, well known local cage officials, have been chosen from Warren to handle the NWPIAA games this season. The first game pits Warren against Oil City.

Norman Burman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Burman, Park avenue, has been honored by the freshman class at Carnegie Tech by being named to the Delta Phi Delta fraternity.

Bob Shawkey, New York Yankee pitcher who was born in nearby Sigel, Pa., was fortunate in shooting a 1200-pound moose while on a hunting trip with his teammates.

In 1935

Warren was blanketed with the first heavy snow of the winter season, followed by a severe drop intemperature. Road maintenance crews have been kept busy because of the downfall.

The North Warren Presbyterians defeated the Business Men to increase their league lead at the YMCA. The HyVis Oils cage five, minus Stanky and Maury who are with the Buffalo Bisons, will go to Salamanca soon.

Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Crane, and family, of North Warren, will leave soon for Atlanta, Georgia, where they will spend the Christmas holidays with Dr. Crane's mother.

The Children's Aid Society has begun its annual solicitation for money, gifts, and toys, which are given each Christmas to needy families and children. Mrs. T. C. Wallace is the chairman of the drive.

Women Threaten to Boycott Films Showing Geo. Sanders

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood — (AP)—At least some of the women in America are beginning to resent the slurs against their sex by the characters George Sannders plays.

In "Moon and Sixpence" and "Dorian Gray," Sanders tossed around such epithets as "women represent the triumph of matter over mind." When it was announced that he would again make such derogatory remarks in the David Loew-Albert Levin picture, "Bel Ami," Mrs. J. B. Cann,, president of the Associated Women's Clubs, New York City, wrote Loew: "We have all intentions of boycotting the film, should the original plan of slander upon women be continued."

But writer - director - producer Lewin does not intend to alter his course.

Sanders merely shrugged and said Lewin puts such words in his mouth and he is not responsible. for instance, in "Moon and Sixpence" he had this line: "Women are strange little beasts. You can tread on them like dogs. You can beat them till your arm aches. And still they love you."

"I'm sorry I had to say that." Sanders told me. "I have since come to love dogs."

Ingrid Bergman is down to a whisper with laryngitis, but still working on "Notorious" . . . Victor is lining up recording rights with Tex Benecke, out of the navy and set to front the revival of Glenn Miller's band. That is good news to the legions of admirers of the Miller style.

Charles Laughton is recording Bible stories for Decca. . . Louis Calhern left for New York in such a hurry that he didn't have time to record some dialogue for "Notorious." . . . He phoned his lines in from the east . . . Funniest radio creation in years is Fred Allen's Senator Claghorn.

And this you shall nowise omit at your peril.

FARM NEWS

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—This little piggie went to market and this little piggie stayed home . . ." says the nursery rhyme, but in Pennsylvania this year few will go to city markets and most will stay home to supply the farmers' own pork needs.

Since the 410,000 pigs raised on Keystone state farms in 1945 represented a serious decline from the 1943 production of 1,357,000, the department of agriculture today predicted "country-cured" hams will continue scarce for city folks.

The farmers, however, already sharpening knives, assembling pots, pans and buckets, setting up big kettles in the vicinty of the smokehouse and collecting firewood in preparation for putting-up their winter's supply of pork.

It's an old tradition that, in some places, still sees the gathering of the family clan or neighboring families to "help out" for the annual "after-Thanksgiving" affair.

J. M. Fry, director of extension in agriculture and home economics at the Pennsylvania State College, said today farmers in the state are in "the greatest period of transition in the history of agriculture."

Several new extension service assistants have been placed in various counties, he said, to answer "varied questions on farm and home management that we have never been asked before."

Plans are under way, he added, to continue the policies of "helping farmers to help themselves" while at the same time showing new concern in matters such as community planning, health and diet, youth training for citizenship developing rural leaders, problems of marketing, and labor-saving devices, along with the new scientific developments.

A federal-state agricultural survey indicates that lateness of the harvest of fall vegetables from Pennsylvania commercial truck fars has opened the way for severe losses should heavy freezes occur.

Harvest of fall crops was greatly handicapped by wet fields and frequent rains, especially in the northwest section of the state, the survey said. Warm weather during the period slowed demand and this may result in some acreages not being harvested, it added.

Estimated production of 51,976,000 pounds of Pennsylvania seedleaf—cigar-filler tobacco—remained unchanged in an October federal-state survey announced recently by the department of agriculture.

Lancaster county tobacco was mostly housed before severe frosts came, but a sizeable acreage in northern townships of the county was damaged, the department said.

Production of Havana seed tobacco will be 471,000 pounds, latest reports revealed. With few exceptions, this type of tobacco is "curing nicely," the department said.

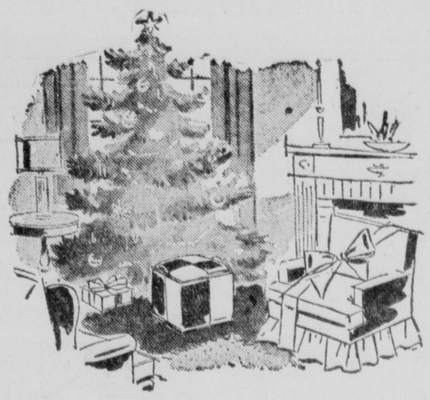

A. L. Baker, 4-H Club leader at the Pennsylvania State College, said that in 1946 the state's 4-H clubs will show greater activity not only in enrollment numbers, but in types of club projects.

Continued emphasis will be placed on production and conservation, he stated. In homemaking clubs, such projects as meal planning, preparation and serving of foods and food preservation will be stressed.

Janet Duncan Is Bride of Former Flying Tiger Pilot

Mr. and Mrs. William Duncan, 607 Madison avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Janet, to Captain Byron McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McKenzie, of Akeley, on December 8 at 7:30 p. m. in First Methodist church.

Rev. Wayne Furman performed the candlelight service against a setting of white chrysanthemums and palms. Mrs. Gladys Anderson sang "Ave Maria" and Grieg's "I Love Thee", while Evelyn Wolstencroft played the traditional organ music and other selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Margaret, as maid of honor, and Betty Jane Anderson as bridesmaid. Charles Burch, Ithaca, N. Y., was best man and ushers were Chester Christensen, of North Warren, and Willis Lundahl, Warren, all in Army Air Forces uniforms.

The bride's frock was fashioned with sweetheart neckline in a fitted bodice of white satin, long sleeves and a net skirt over taffeta, with chrysanthemums appliqued to the train. Her fingertip veil fell from a band of orange blossoms and her bouquet was of white roses and mums. Her only jewelry was the bridegroom's gift, a single strand of pearls. Attendants were similarly attired in frocks with white lace bodice and three-quarter length sleeves, scalloped peplum and skirt of net over taffeta. Arm bouquets of pink mums matched their tiaras. Mrs. Duncan wore black accessories and pink mums with a light blue ensemble and Mrs. McKenzie wore black accessories and white mums with American beauty.

A reception for 100 guests followed immediately in Dunham parlors of the church, where white mums centered the bride's table. Guests included Sherwood Anderson, Kane; Mr. and Mrs. William Sleeman, Sheffield; Alex Anderson, Celoron, N. Y.; M. S. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. McKenzie, Mrs. Esther M. Deardorff, Chambersburg.

After the reception, the newlyweds left for a short wedding trip. At the first of the year they will go to Greensboro, N. C., for Captain McKenzie's next assignment. For traveling, the bride chose a suit of melon colored wool and black accessories.

A graduate of Warren High School, she was formerly employed by the Pennsylvania Gas Company. Those who have entertained for her were Mrs. Clemens Anderson and Betty Jane Anderson; Mrs. M. E. McKenzie; Margaret Duncan; Mrs. Harold Morse, and girls of the utility concern.

Captain McKenzie, also a local graduate entered military service in 1941, was commissioned as pilot in the Air Corps in October, 1943. He flew 105 missions with General Chenault's Flying Tigers and was awarded pjilot's wings and decoration by the Chinese government for service in Chinese-American Composite Wing.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Warren Baking Company To Greatly Enlarge Local Plant

One of the big post war projects under way in this city soon will be the enlargement of the plant of the Warren Baking Company, Fourth avenue and Laurel street. The company now occupies a large building which covers all the land it owns at this location.

Plans have been prepared for the addition of one or two stories atop the present plant which is now using every available inch of space in the building. Steel frame work will be installed in the lower portion of the building to carry the additional load imposed by the new addition.

The construction will conform to the materials and type of architecture and will when completed afford the company much needed additional space for the ever-increasing business of the local concern.

Warren Baking Company operates a fleet of trucks from the local plant which cover a large area in this end of the state and hundreds of miles are driven daily by the men in making deliveries. In addition to the trucks that operate from the local plant a garage was recently built at Clarion in which are housed trucks used in that section. Supplies for the Clarion drivers are carried to that town with large semi-trailers that leave early each day and return in the afternoon from Clarion.

The new addition will allow the company to greatly increase its output of its famous breads and the cake and cookie departments can also be given additional attention. Demand is ever increasing for the Warren firm's products and growing trade has forced the company to make the enlargement on which work will begin as soon as possible.

The average income of Napoleon III of France amounted to $14,219 a day.

Men and Women In the Service

NOW IN NAGOYA

Pfc. Thomas Offerle, writing from Nagoya, Japan, to his mother, Mrs. Carrie E. Offerle, 113 Market street, states that he is now working in the regiment personnel section and a regular routine of duties and classes keeps him pretty busy. He writes that he does not know when he will be home, since portions of his outfit have been taken into the regular army and will be reassigned, while others will remain where they are for the present. In an imaginary trip about the city, young Offerle describes the main streets, with rows of buildings blown apart and small neat houses never touched. "Some bombardiers we have" is his comment. Stores sell anything from a sword to beautiful kimonos, chinaware and all the things that Japan has been noted for, and on the streets are kimonos and sandals everywhere. Another letter, dated November 28, states "the weather is cold and rainy, and very disagreeable. The food is now picking up but could be better with fresh butter, meat, eggs and milk. The barracks have oil stoves in the halls and this is swell".

HARRY L. O'DONNELL SERVED WITH 20th

Master Sergeant Charles W. Brooks has arrived in the city to spend some time with his parents after having been honorably discharged from the U. S. Service at Camp Atterberry, Indiana.

WALTER J. KUSHNER HOME FROM NAVY

Walter J. Kushner, gunner's mate second class, of Pittsfield, son of Mrs. Anna Kushner, has been released by the navy after serving three and one-half years, of which 3 months were overseas duty. He is authorized to wear the American theatre ribbon, European-African ribbon with two stars, Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with ten stars, Philippine Liberation ribbon with two stars. His brother, still in the naval hospital on Saipan, expects to be home next January.

Lee Carter To Head Show at Outing Club

You folks who read Charley Danver's column can remember the picture of a darned good looking girl which appeared the other day in connection with praise for being a clever dancer. That gal will be at the Marconi Outing Club this week and with a routine of character dances that should charm the crowd.

Others on the bill will be Frank Pattera, who is hailed as the Prince of Song in the clubs in and about Pittsburgh, where he has been going great guns for the past few months. He will also emcee the show at the Marconi Outing Club.

Reggie Saxe presenting a musical novelty act will complete the bill and he also comes with strong endorsement as to his ability by showmen of the Pittsburgh-Eastern Ohio district.

Plans are being considered for the holiday season at the club and Frank Williams, who handles the entertainment, anticipates that some delightful entertainment will be provided and that the New Years party will be a humdinger.

Kiwanis Club Gives Old Alias Santa Real Thrill By Big Check

Old Alias Santa Claus this morning rammed down the ashes in his pipe and found they were hot and quickly stuck his finger in his mouth and ejaculated "Just makes me think how tough it must be if you have no heat in your home and have a couple of small kiddies freezing around."

The old boy certainly lets little things remind him of the needs of the folks that he likes to aid and really he does give that fuel problem a lot of attention. It's just one of his good deeds of which he is daily doing many.

But this morning he wore a big grin as he opened up an envelope and scanned the check enlosed which was $50 from the Warren Kiwanis Club. "By crimminy, I feel that those Kiwanians gave me such a generous check inasmuch as they have a program of their own down at Rouse Hospital for the holiday season. They are a swell bunch of fellows and do a lot of good."

And he also got a couple of small gifts this morning both givers wishing to remain anonymous with gifts of $1 each.

The fund is growing but not quite fast enough to suit old Alias who lets it be known that he has a lot of work ahead that should be done for needy folk of the commuuity.

If you have not as yet made your gift please make it soon so that the old boy will know just how much money he will have to spend during the Merry Christmas season.

Memo to Bowery Santas: Don't Eat Onions or Garlic, Keep Your Beards Brushed

Sketch and Text
By JEAN GEORGE
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York, Dec. 10—Santa Claus lives in a flop house on the Bowery. His whiskers are false. He's got no reindeers. He's never seen the North Poale and he hates snow.

Furthermore, he is 18 different old men, and they all are messenger boys, odd job men, or they live on unemployment checks for 336 days of the year.

These confessions were gleaned from a chat with New York's sidewalk Santa Clauses at a breakfast party given by the Volunteers of America at their Bowery Community Center. It was a bit disillusioning to see so many Clauses.

Edward McIntyre, 66-year-old dean of the Santas, who will put his V. of A. chimney in front of Macy's this season, has been Clausing around the country now for about 14 years. He finds that long winter underwear is the best insulation against Christmas weather. The only time it failed him was on a street corner in Detroit, when the thermometer dropped to 30 below.

McIntyre said that he did not want to disillusion any children, but admitted that he had Clausedfor $25 one week at a movie house that was showing "Christmas in Connecticut."

At the maplewood table with McIntyre was oine of the few women Santa Clauses, Mrs. Phoebe Seabrook. Mrs. Seabrook went into the profession last year when the man power was at a low ebb, and liked it so well she will be back this year.

It is her job, she said, to see that the Santa Clauses start off in the morning with their beards brushed, and their white cuffs clean.

"That one is my favorite," she said pointing to one of the 18 red backs. "He keeps his sleeves clean for two days."

At breakfast the Santa Clauses were instructed in Santa behavior by Colonel William R. Apetz, the manager of the red and white outfit. "Don't eat onions or garlic," he counselled, "and don't slop all over the chimney."

The postmaster also warns that if the public expect the delivery of their gift parcels and greeting cards by Christmas day they must mail them at once, even those for delivery in Warren county and Warren borough should be dispatched by the 20th of December. Says Rumor: Rita is still "torchy" about Victor. Says Victor: "When they mention Rita . . . I've got amnesia." Hollywood buzz-buzz also says that Victor is secretly engaged to June Haver, with whom he is shown, above, in his first screen assignment since discharge from the Coast Guard. Victor denies marriage plans. Says he: "I can't. I like her too much."

Planes Seen Following Autos' Sales-Boom

The sale of private airplanes in the next 10 years is expected to zoom up like the sale of automobiles did during the decade 1900-1910, a comparable period of mechanical development, according to Flying magazine. Chart above, prepared from Civil Aeronautics Administration figures, shows rise of automobile sales, compared to curve for estimated plane sales. The estimate envisions more than 400,000 private planes in use during 1955.

Survey Shows What Factory Workers Think of Situation

New York, Dec. 13—Job preference for veterans and the 40-hour, 5-day week are favored by most factory workers who think that there will be more strikes during the next year or two, chiefly over wages. However, the workers believe that if management would cooperate with labor and get closer to the workers that the number of strikes would be reduced, according to the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company industrial magazine Factory Management and Maintenance. Hope is held for success of the labor-management conferences.

In the December issue the magazine points out that approximately three-fourths of all factory workers favor the 40-hour week despite the fact that some union leaders are demanding that it be cut to 30-hours.

The report, embodied in an article "What the Factory Worker Really Thinks," was based on a nation-wide personal - interview poll of workers throughout the manufacturing industries for which the editors of Factory retained the service of the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, N. J.

It was pointed out that while many profess to speak for labor yet the worker, as an individual has a mind of his own. The report revealed that:

1. The majority of workers have never heard of the guaranteed wage, though most of them favor the idea, once it is explained to them, provided it does not mean lower wages.

2. Only about half the workers have ever heard of the Murray "Full Employment" Bill.

3. Ninety-five percent of all workers want to see veterans reinstated in their former jobs. And 61 per cent endorse "superseniority," which provides that the veteran shall be reinstated even if it means displacing a civilian who holds greater seniority.

4. Workers did not expect wage rates to rise following the end of the war and most workers would accept less money if jobs are scarce, which they believe will be the case when military demobilization is complete.

This is the second annual survey conducted by the magazine, Factory to obtain the thinking of the factory worker. The present survey reveals the following facts:

1. On Wages and Hours.

2. The worker favors the 40-hour, 5-day week.

b. He is not sure that wage rates will rise—and if jobs were scarce, he would probably accept less money.

c. The majority of workers have never heard of the guaranteed annual wage.

d. They like the annual wage, idea, however—even if it means higher prices, but not if it means lower wages or fewer jobs.

2. On Strikes.

a. The worker thinks there will be more strikes, chiefly over wages.

b. He has his own ideas about the things top management and top labor leaders should do to reduce the number of strikes.

c. He holds some hope for the success of the national labor-management conferences at Washington.

3. On Full Employment.

a. The worker isn't sure there will be enough jobs next year to go around.

b. He greatly overestimates the number of jobs that factories provide.

c. He has seen a lot of layoffs and considers them unavoidable.

d. Only half the workers have heard of the Murray "Full Employment" bill.

e. When it is explained to them, they favor the idea.

4. On Veterans.

a. The workers wants to see the veteran get his old job back—even if it means displacing a civilian who has greater seniority.

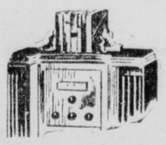

b. He thinks some preference should be given to veterans who have never had jobs before—but not to the extent of laying off civilians to make room for the veterans.

Two Cars of Grain Train Are Damaged in Wreck Today

Train 581 westbound over the Pennsy this morning was one hour and 56 minutes late in arriving in Warren due to the derailment of two cars in a grain train at 12:45 a. m. The wreck took place within one mile of where yesterday's pile up took place near Wetmore. The 29th car in the grain train was derailed and damaged and the 30th car in the train was pulled off and damaged. Reports say that the wreck was not due to the conditionn of the track nor was the track damaged. The wrecking crew from Ridgway was called to the scene and the track was cleared at 7:30 this morning.

The westbound passenger train was held in Kane until the track was opened allowing it to proceed and the east bound train moved on schedule.

Tracks were cleared yesterday afternoon after the wreck of yesterday morning, when cars of a grain train were piled up. The tracks were opened at 5:42 yesterday afternoon and eastbound passenger traffic moved on schedule.

Yesterday's wreck caused extentive damage, but the cause has not been ascertained. However it is believed that a truck or wheel climbed off the track at the switch of the E. and E. Coal Company at Wetmore, causing cars to plow into a cinder car that was on a siding. The cinder car was of metal and it undoubtedly prevented a more serious pile up. However, one of the cars was tossed up an embankment and the others piled up on the tracks. Some of the wooden cars were demolished and coffins and furniture were tossed about.

The wrecking crews from Warren and Ridgway with about 100 men worked in near zero weather to clear the tracks. Cranes tossed damaged cars to one side and crews worked on repairingn the tracks.

Shovel Walk Or Pay Fine Says Burgess

For years on end Warren has had on its ordinance books one that provides for the clearing of snow from sidewalks. Annnually dozens of folks waded through uncleaned walks until the street employes got around to cleaning the walks. Bills were then sent to the folks who didn't shovel and they paid. However, this year, due to the inability to secure help the street department cannot spare men to care for the uncleaned walks. Accordingly Burgess Steber has directed the police to report any uncleaned walks and fines will be imposed as provided by the ordinance.

Chief of Police Haehnn, in accordance with the orders issued, has instructed all patrolmen to report any uncleaned walks and fines will be imposed. The borough does not wish to be unreasonable in imposing fines, but it is felt that the walks should be cleaned as early in the day as possible.

Most of the towns and cities in this section provide plows driven by tractors or horse drawn and walks are cleaned by the city. Jamestown uses tractors, in Corry a jeep is used, while Kane uses a motor driven contraption and most towns use horse drawn plows. It was suggested last winter that Warren borough take over the complete street cleaning job and relieve the householders of this duty. However, no action was taken.

CRAWFORD COUNTY OUT OF DISTRICT

The following from this mornings Titusville Herald will be read with interest here:

Jesse Smith of Warren, referee under the Workmen's Compensation Act, held a hearing yesterday afternoon at City Hall in the case of Russell Daugherty, who was injured on Dec. 2, 1943, while employed at the Perry Forge of the Struthers Wells Corp. Daugherty was represented by Attorney Edward J. McDonald.

Yesterday's trip will be the last for Mr. Smith to Titusville as of January 1. Crawford county, is to be taken from Mr. Smith's district and added to that of Referee Harvey Moore of Sharon, who has served Mercer, Lawrence and other counties for several years. With Crawford county removed, Mr. Smith will still serve ten counties.

Mr. Smith succeeded E. H. Beshlin of Warren as referee about seven years ago and on his trips to Titusville for hearings several times yearly he has made many friends who will regret his leaving.

Columbus Man Is Exonerated By Grand Jury

Harold D. Jaquith, of Columbus was cleared of all criminal responsibilities in the automobile collision that resulted in the death of Mrs. Winifred Covey, of Niobe, N. Y., on November 12th by the Chautauqua County Grand Jury. Report on the case was received when the Jury convened this week.

The decision was pleasing to the friends of Mr. Jaquith who were familiar with the circumstances of the accident when Jaquith drove through a "stop" sign at a road intersection on the Sugar Grove-Chautauqua road and crashed into the car of Kenneth Fuller, of Watts Flats in whose car Mrs. Covey was a passenger.

At the preliminary hearing held at Lakewood the evening after the accident. Jaquith had entered a plea of guilty and had frankly admitted that he was not familiar with the highway where the accident occurred and had not seen the stop sign. Since the accident it is known that the Columbus man had made a generous restitution to the Watts Flats car owner, replacing the latter's machine with another car, and that he had also taken other steps toward making all possible amends within his resources.

The Chautauqua county grand jury evidently found, after hearing the facts on the case, that there was no culpable circumstances for which the Columbus man should face trial in criminal court and brought in a report of "no bill of indictment," thus clearing Jaquith of the charges.

Chapter 24

[Tuesday 5:58 a.m. to 6:45 a.m.]

SHE didn't know whether she had slept or not before she was disturbed again. Shadowy dreams and elusive thoughts were blended together imperceptably. She was at the door in a moment.

"It's Detective Horowitz, ma'am. You're to dress right away and come with me. Inspector's orders."

"All right," she acquiesced and glanced at the clock on the night table. It was six o'clock. Events had taken on a nightmarish quality.

Shoes and stockings. Where were they. Her mind didn't seem to work. What had happened now? Oh, God, did this mean the end? Did it mean arrest? Then it all seemed quite clear to her. Alma—poor dazed Alma—had said something that made the Inspector believe he had sufficient evidence to arrest her.

She stood in her slip and surveyed the rack of dresses. Will they send me more clothes in jail? Some queer practical turn made her choose a sheer black woollen dress, simply made, in case she had to wear it a long time. The very fact of choosing it for that reason calmed her somewhat. Her fingers moved efficiently to dust powder over her face and smooth red paste on her lips. She didn't comb her hair—it took so long since she had worn her hair high on her head—but she checked her purse for a comb. I'll have plenty of time in the Bastille. It was astounding how one could accept incredible situations and go on doing perfectly ordinary things. She chose a black hat with a sash that fell to her shoulders in the back and covered her hair. Then a loose black suede coat—gloves—purse—

She looked into the mirrored door to the dressing room.

"Don't be a coward," she commanded her reflection.

Horowitz was waiting at the door. Two uniformed officers were in the salon. She stopped halfway across the room and said to them, "You'll find food in the ice box and Cook will be here soon to make coffee."

"Thank you, ma'am," said one and they both looked at her solemnly as if they knew she wouldn't be back.

Horowitz took her arm outside the apartment house and guided her to a police car. Whatever hope she had had evaporated when she got in and the detective followed her. She did not even asked where they were going. She already knew the answer.

The young officer who was driving turned the car into the park. This couldn't be the way to headquarters! She stole a glance at Horowitz. He was peering intently ahead.

IT was a gray, murky dawn. The air was cool and damp and a fog hung over the park. She thought fleetingly that it would be nice to walk through the park in the early morning. She had never done it and now perhaps—

Abruptly the car halted and there were some people standing around watched over by blue uniformed figures. Horowitz got out and helped her alight.

Dread so deep and black that it held her nerves paralyzed grew and spread within her. Unconsciously she lifted her chin and put her arm through the detective's before he had grasped hers. Together they went across the pavement and ascended a narrow stone path. The man went first and she tread after him.

"It's on up there," he directed Horowitz.

It was like walking slowly into doom.

The detective was puffing a bit when they reached a rocky ledge.

Several men were standing there and she recognized Inspector Venable among them. He came forward when he saw them.

"I wanted you for identification before the body was moved," he said.

A man with a camera pushed by them and went on down the path.

"Who is it?" breathed Julia. She could taste horror in her mouth and she smelled it in the thick damp air of the fog.

"Moore, I think." His eyes found Horowitz. "You should have prepared her," he told him and Julia was somehow strengthened by the anger in his voice.

"You didn't give orders, Inspector."

The men on the ledge stood aside and waited for her to come on. But her feet were glued to the rocky path. Only when the Inspector took her arm in an urgent grasp could she move.

The thing that lay huddled before her was only a dark mass against a large rock higher than the men who stood by it. Then her eyes focussed on a bald head. It was perfectly hairless and there was an ugly darkish dent in the back although the skin was not broken. She thought she screamed but only a gurgle sounded in her throat. The Inspector's hand tightened on her arm.

The corpse wasn't Moore, of course. Moore had lots of hair—lots of hair—lots of—

She pulled herself back from that brink of hysteria. She filled her lungs with the damp air and tensed her muscles.

"It isn't Moore."

The sound of her own voice was strange and her eyes swept those men before her to see if they thought it queer also. They looked like ominous priests at a ceremony where a human sacrifice had been offered.

"If you look more closely I believe you'll agree with me that it is. The men found him when they were looking for Miss Pratt and I noted the resemblance instantly," the Inspector said steadily. "Turn the head around farther, Riley, so she can see the features better."

A man stooped and moved the head so the face was toward Julia. He snapped a flashlight and revealed small features in a large flabby face.

An exclamation escaped her.

"It looks like—no, I can't—I don't know. How could it be Moore?"

GI Weds Italian Baroness

Discharged Air Corps Pfc. Richard A. Bosse, left, of Raytown, Mo., receives congratulations following his marriage to Italian Baroness Elena Colisanti LaLomia in King Victor Emmanuel Church, Naples. She plans to accompany him to U. S. as soon as her passage is cleared.

Shopping At High Peak In Warren Stores

Shopping in tse stores of the city has reached a high peak and cash registers are jingling in a way that is most warming to the heart of the merchants. A record Christmas business is in the making. Next Friday evening stores of the city will start remaining open evenings until the Christmas season comes to an end at 6 p. m. on December 24. By that time corns and bunions of the tired clerks will be barking for a respite and shoppers too will cease their endless chase for gifts.

There has been little shoplifting reported in the local stores perhaps due to the plainclothes activities that have been in effect this year. The petty thieving has been kept down to a minimum due to the arrangement perfected which has been found to work well. A few instances have been noted and the persons picked up and their names added to the list of those who are on the suspect rolls.

The wintery weather has seemingly added to the Christmas spirit and with the displays of trees and greens for the season Christmas is really in the air.

Pupils Donate Cans of Food For Relief

Warren school students, responding to the call for assistance in the collection of canned foods for overseas relief, brought to their individual buildings on Tuesday a total of more than 1,500 cans of edibles.

By buildings, totals were as follows: High school, 95; Beaty, 161; East, 306; Home, 115; Johnson, 225; Lacy, 326; McClintock, 109; Seneca, 51; South, 270; total, 1,552.

While Tuesday was the day specially designated for this school collection, some children failed to bring their donations on that day. Those who missed the collection may still add to their building's total by bringing cans on Thursday.

Month Brings But Few New Agency Cases

The monthly report presented by the Warren Visiting Nurse to the board of directors showed only three new cases had been added in the month of November, bringing the total for the month to 27. Chronic medical again headed the list of classifications, with 23, acute medical, communicable, tuberculosis and sunshine lamp cases each counting one.

The nurse made 107 nursing visits, four social service and welfare visits, eight calls at night and three on Sunday for a total of 122. In addition to this, she gave six sunshine lamp treatments.

Special activities included assistance with four child health clinics and one Needlework Guild directors' meeting. At the clinics, six new babies and two new children of pre-school age were examined, together with 20 babies paying repeat visits and several older children returning. Four child welfare home visits were paid in conjunction with this work.

Besides a $2 donation during the month, the directors acknowledge receipt of 774 articles of clothing from the Needlework Guild garment collection.

Leo McCarey May Do Picture About Some Other Religion

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Dec. 11—(AP)—A lot of people around Hollywood are asking what Leo McCarey can do now.

The handsome Irishman dominated the Academy Awards with "Going My Way" last year and he now has "Bells of St. Marys", which many believe is even better. After that, what could he do?

"I wish I knew," Leo told me. "When you make two pictures in a row that are well received, it's hard to know what to do next."

What about another religious picture?

"Yes, I'd like to do one about another religion. But I can't get an idea. And it has to be a good idea. If I made a picture that wasn't as good as the last two, they'd say 'look what McCarey does for the Catholics and what he does to us'."

The Hollywood press gals have once again brought out their selection for the most and least cooperative of the movie stars. Naturally the names on the plus side of the ledger—Joan Crawford, June Allyson, Dana Andrews and Gregory Peck—did not attract as much interest as those who were cited for the brushoff routine.

I can't agree with the girls on the female candidates. Mebbe the femme stars react differently to a male reporter. But I found Greer Garson extremely charming and cordial. Likewise Lauren Bacall was responsive to my questioning. She even whistled for me.

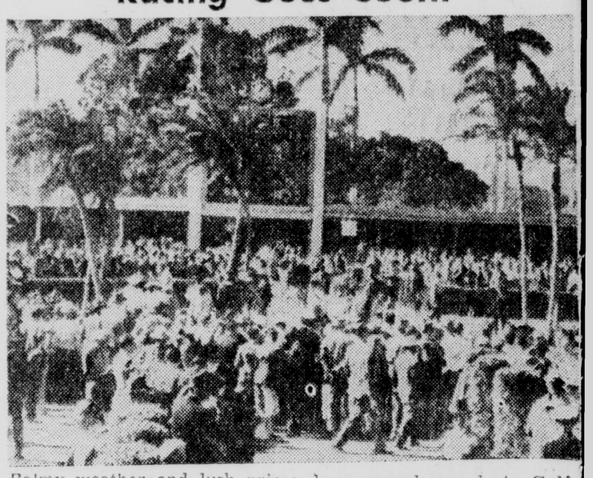

The male nominees are something else again. Fred MacMurray isn't impolite; he just doesn't give a hoot. Grilling him is like questioning an FBI man about his job. As for Ray Milland, he dosen't give a hang either, but he's not so charming about it.

DeWitt MacKenzie Discusses John Bull's Greatest Issue

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London—Britain's new labor government has tackled John Bull's greatest imperial problem—Indian independence—with a flying wedge which looks as though it might go places.

Not only has the promise of self-government for India been reaffirmed before parliament, but the mother country has given its word that the vast India sub-continent will be allowed to cut loose entirely if it wants to.

Herbert Morrison, leader of the labor majority in the house of commons, has made the categorical declaration that Britain will not impose any restrictions on the power of India to decide her future. This was in response to the blunt question whether India would be permitted to withdraw from the British commonwealth if her leaders so desired. However, said Morrison, "it is naturally our hope that India will remain of her own free will in the British commonwealth."

All this was straight from the shoulder and unequivocal. But the Laborites didn't stop with words. They announced that a non-partisan parliamentary committee will proceed to India immediately to make independent observations and report back to the government. This would be in preparation for the formation of an assembly to frame an Indian constitution next spring after the provincial elections have paved the way.

Lest there be any misunderstanding, however, the government at the same time announced that it will resist "any attempts to resolve the constitutional issue by force."

This may have been inspired by the remark made last week by the Indian leader, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, that if Britain didn't take the initiative for India's independence, "other people" might do so. Next to Mohandas Gandhi, Nehru is the most powerful person in all India, and his words aren't passed lightly.

Well, where does all this get us on the Indian problem? Is this new move going to achieve results, or is it going to fizzle out as have so many other programs? We get a highly interesting slant on these questions from an editorial this morning in the Times of London, which for generations has been known as the Englishman's Bible. This staunch defender of the British empire deals with the matter in a lengthy article which says:

"A straightforward program has thrown open the door through which Indians can pass to complete and unfettered control of their own internal and external affairs."

That seems to sum the position up accurately and unemotionally. Those who have followed this column know it long has maintained that the Indian problem is susceptible ot solution—a view at which I arrived as the result of an intensive study beginning back in 1916.

However, it would be foolish to believe that there aren't many obstacles to overcome. One of the greatest of these has been the failure of the various Indian political factions to resolve their own differences.

McKenney On Bridge

ONE ERROR'S HUMAN;
TWO ARE DISASTROUS

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Don't become upset when you fail to get the maximum out of a hand. Remember that it happens to the experts, too. I saw today's hand played in a duplicate game. Most of the East-West pairs bid and made six clubs, but one North-South pai rgot into four spades, which West doubled—and South proceeded to make it.

	♠ K J 5 ♥ K Q 9 4 ♦ 9 5 2 ♣ 9 6 3
♠ 6 ♥ J 7 5 3 2 ♦ K 6 ♣ Q J 10 7 4	N W E S Dealer	♠ A Q 4 ♥ A ♦ J 7 4 3 ♣ A K 8 5 2
	♠ 10 9 8 7 3 2 ♥ 10 8 6 ♦ A Q 10 8 ♣ None

Duplicate—Neither vul.

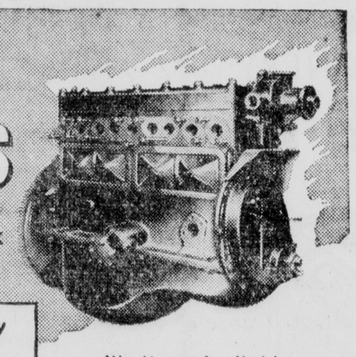

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	3 N.T
4 ♠	Double	Pass	Pass

Opening—♦ K. 13

The trouble started when West elected to open with a psychic club bid. East immediately had visions of a slam, but decided to take it easy and simply bid a diamond. East realized that something had gone wrong when he bid three no trump, but when South bid four spades and West doubled, he could not be blamed for leaving it in.

To make matters worse, West lost a valuable trick with his opening lead. In response to his partner's diamond bid, he led the diamond king. South won, led a spade and played the jack from dummy, and East won with the queen. He cashed the ace of hearts, then underled the ace-king of clubs, hoping to get his partner in so he could ruff a heart with the four of spades. But South trumped and led another spade. East won and, in desperation, led back a small diamond. South played him for the jack and let the trick ride to the nine-spot. Thus he lost only two spades and the ace of hearts.

WEST HICKORY

West Hickory, Dec. 10—Arthur Kinnear, brought in a fine 8-point buck on the first day of season, about 200 pounds, it was killed in the vicinity of the Red Bridge. Monday Theodore Nuttal brought in a fine 6 point buck and 18-year-old Howard Raybuck got the only bear in town. A nice black bear. He is having it skinned and made into a rug. The other hunters after going it steady and no buck, came in a little wet and disgusted.

Miss Marie Songler of Akron, Ohio, motored here to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stutley. The lady hunter enjoyed a little hunting trip, but did not see or bag any game.

Myrtie Rettig and Frank Hiwiller of Kittanning spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foringer, just in time to join the family at a birthday dinner for Mrs. Foringer.

Pfc. Merle Mooney spent Monday with his mother, Mrs. Thomas Mooney,, also called on his grandmother, Mrs. James Mooney who is ill. Mrs. Thomas Mooney assists in caring for her.

News from Cpl. George Dudick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dudick, tells us he is o. k. stationed in Alaska, and wishes to get home soon to join the pals already home.

In the 52 years since its first successful commercial production, rayon has grown so rapidly that its world consumption exceeds that of wool, is 13 times greater than silk, and is surpassed only by cotton.

Warren General Hospital Is Topic of Talk To Kiwanians

At the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Warren at the Carver House, Dr. Russell Elliott, president, introduced Fellow-Kiwanian R. Pierson Eaton, who is president of the Warren General Hospital, with the remark that Mr. Eaton had some information which would be of interest and help to his fellow-Kiwanians and the community served by the hospital.

Mr. Eaton said many people were seeking information as to the needs of the hospital, and when the campaign for improvements would take place and what the plans for the new buildings would be.

He traced the history of the hospital from its beginning in 1895, when it was opened under the name of "Door of Hope." The present hospital building was built in 1905 through the generosity of a few far-seeing public-spirited citizens. It is incorporated as a non-profit organization. It is managed by the Hospital Association, of which any citizen can become a member by paying the small membership fee. Since the hospital was built, it has been followed by a nurses' home and a maternity building, all of which was accomplished by the efforts and contributions of a few of Warren and Warren county citizens.

The original building housed forty beds, and though no addition has been made to the building, improvisation and ingenuity has been used to increase the number of beds to sixty and sometimes more. Beds have been placed in sun parlors, in the center of wards, private rooms have been made into semi-private rooms. The equipment has been crowded into places not built for it, and the kitchen arrangements are over-crowded continuously.

There is an ever-growing list of those who desire hospitalization, but have to wait until beds are vacant.

Mr. Eaton pointed out that this increase in the use of hospital service is by reason of hospital insurance, and modern medical practice for hospitalization. Here he commented that although the hospital is doing a splendid job, it is severely handicapped by lack of space. In pointing out an instance of over-crowding, he said the Mens' and Womens' eight-bed wards often have twelve beds in them. This does not allow a proper segregation of patients.

For some years the hospital board has realized that the hospital must have new buildings, as the over-crowding of its present facilities may lead to unfortunate consequences for the individual, and the community.

The Maternity building which has 39 beds and bassinets, even though many of these should be unoccupied, cannot be used for any other medical or surgical care.

To overcome these conditions and give Warren and Warren County a hospital building large enough to take care of the present demand and make provision for the future, the Board has decided to appeal to the citizens of Warren and Warren County to provide a fund of $400,000. Architects, expert in hospital building, submitted plans, and Mr. Eaton expressed confidence that when the public has the opportunity of seeing the plans they will readily support the campaign.

The new structure will add two wings to the present building, and the old building will be modernized in every way.

Mr. Eaton stated that the hospital has at no time appealed to the public for funds with which to build. All its present buildings and endowment fund have been provided for by a few. The endowment fund cannot be used for new buildings, and it would be foolish to do so as it provides an income which keeps the hospital on an even keel financially and avoiding repeated appeals to the public for financial assistance to meet current indebtedness.

At present a campaign is going on among the larger corporations as they are vitally interested in hospitalization for their employees. The 1945 tax situation also enters into larger contributions from corporations and individuals before the end of the year. When this part of the campaign is completed the public campaign will be launched.

More Snow Is Due Locally On Friday

With roads open for traffic in this section and all danger spots carefully cindered the storm that hit this section on Tuesday night seems to have passed for the present. However, the weatherman today promises that more snow is headed into this section and that snow will fall tonight and Friday.

Warmer temperature is expected this afternoon although the mercury is due to drop tonight over this section. Winds that helped pile snow into drifts in many sections of the county have dropped in velocity and are not expected to cause trouble during the next 24 hours.

Employes of the Highway Department here have already gone into their winter duty and a careful watch at all hours is kept for any dangerous developments over the county. One inch of snow alerts the plowman and cinder crews and it is hoped that the situation can be kept under control in better shape than in 1944.

Norman Dunn, for many years with the C. C. Smith Company,, has been placed in charge as mechanoical director and special attention will be given all work in the service department. Much new equipment has been installed and the plant will be able to give first class service at all times.

Personal Paragraphs

Edward Pratt, 314 Chestnut street, received a small laceration on the back of his head yesterday at the G. G. Greene plant, when he was struck by a firebox panel. X-rays were taken at Warren General Hospital to determine a possible skull fracture but none was found and he was discharged after treatment.

Over 90 Injured In Troop Train Wreck

Chicago, Dec. 13—(AP)—Between 90 and 100 men, most of them negro sailors aboard an Alton railroad troop train, were injured last night when the train with some 250 navy personnel was rammed from the rear by a Pere Marquette railroad passenger train.

Most seriously hurt were three members of the train crew. The majority of the injured were given first aid at south side hospitals and the navy later removed them to Wesley Memorial Hospital for further examination.

The accident occurred about three miles from Chicago's loop on the south side as the 12-car troop train, enroute from the naval base at Bainbridge, Md., to the naval depot at Shoemaker, Calif., was switching from Baltimore & Ohio tracks to Alton tracks.

The Pere Marquette 10-coach train, pulled by two engines and headed for Grand Rapids, Mich., struck it. Four troop coaches and a sleeper were derailed and one sleeper overturned. The Pere Marquette train was not damaged.

Pullman Wants To Sell to Railroads

Philadelphia, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Pullman, Inc., still wants to sell its sleeping car business to a combine of 52 railroads despite opposition from the U. S. government and three other bidders for the $75,000,000 property, says George Wharton Pepper, its counsel.

A three-judge special expediting court today considered merits of thei four purchase proposals following end of a three-day hearing yesterday.

Pepper, in a closing argument in behalf of Pullman, who was ordered by federal court to sell its subsidiary sleeping service in an anti-trust decision, called the case "a matter of the most vital importance in the history of law."

The 80-year-old former U. S. senator from Pennsylvania asserted the court has no power to name a purchaser.

The U. S. government, however, represented by Holmes Baldridge, special assistant to Attorney General Tom Clark, insisted the three judges had the "right and duty" to select the buyer in the matter of "public interest."

MURPHY CO. PLANS SPLIT-UP OF STOCK

McKeesport, Dec. 13—(AP)—The G. C. Murphy Co. which operates a chain of retail stores with headquarters here, plans a four-for-one splitup of its common stock early next year.

Chairman Edgar M. Mack said yesterday the board of directors will submit to the annual meeting of stockholders on Feb. 26 a proposal for reclassification of common stock from an authorized issue of 500,000 shares of no par value to 3,000,000 shares of $1 par value.

He said if the change is made, present holders of common stock will receive three additional shares for each one held.

The company, which at last reports was operating 208 stores, has 480,500 shares of common stock outstanding.

In the British steel industry there are an unusually large number of rolling mills, but adoption of the high-speed continuous strip mill has been slower than in the U. S. A.

Invitation To Rural Singers Of the County

Rural singers of Warren county will have a chance to be part of a 200-voice chorus, a feature of the opening program for the State Farm Show meetings on January 22, County Agent O. C. Tritt announces. He is asking for volunteers to have Warren county well represented in the first such corus ever attempted in Pennsylvania.

The rural chorus will feature the patriotic musical revue, "Dedication to Peace," specially written for the occasion by W. R. Gordon, extension rural sociologist of the Pennsylvania State College. All rural residents with vocal abilities, those with training, members of church choirs, Grange quartets or other musical organizations are invited and urged to join in the chorus.

The county agent has full details for the program, and says those volunteering to aid in the first state-wide rural chorus can begin practicing the numbers at home, in preparation for the full chorus rehearsal on the afternoon of January 22. The program will be presented in the Forum of the Education Building at Harrisburg, and the huge chorus will share the platform with Governor Edward Martin and other State officials speaking at the opening session of the Farm Show meetings.

Singers who volunteer will have the privilege of working under the supervision of an outstanding director. The county agent is making a roster of rural singers from the county, both men and women. Any singers interested are urged to enroll at the county agricultural extension office at the Court House as soon as possible.

YOUNGSVILLE NEWS

Youngsville, Dec. 12—Youngsville Business and Professional Women's Club held their annual Christmas dinner party Monday evening Dec. 10th at the Forge Club House. The club house was decorated in Christmas green. The large table was centered with a very pleasing arrangement of garlands of laurel and red lighted candles in glass candle sticks. Favors were small figures of Santa Claus made of red wool yarn and other materials of such size they could be used as Christmas coat decoration.

The Christmas party dinner committee consisted of Mrs. Rose Hubert, chairman; Miss Matilda Kamber and Mrs. Ruby Ransom prepared a delicious dinner with an eighteen pound turkey as the main feature. Shrimp cocktails were the first course followed by a dinner and salad course with a variety of vegetables and other good things, ...tly by a delicious desert.

Following the dinner a short business session was held with Miss Gertrude Ostrosky presiding, then came the fun of exchanging gifts with the final portion of the evening devoted to Christmas stories and Christmas carols.

HOME DECORATIONS

For the first time in several years Youngsville people feel free to decorate their homes within or outside for the Christmas season. The business section of the town is already very attractively decorated and a few homes have some form of lighted Christmas decoration.

For home decoration Youngsville Business People's Association are offering prizes of $10.00, $5.00 and $3.00 for the best decorated exterior of home in town. Decorations within the hoe which may be plainly seen through windows or glass door are also to be considered and for the inside decorations the prizes will be $5.00, $3.00 and $2.00.

The Business and Professional Woman's Club are now arranging for judges, from out of town, to judge these events, during the two or three days preceding Christmas, probably in Christmas week. In securing judges and arranging the judging the B.P.W. Club officers are working by request of the Business People's Association.

NEW OFFICERS

At the December meeting of the evening group of the W.C.S. held at the home of Mrs. Mirtie Kay and Mrs. Roy McDowell, the following officers for 1946 were elected: President, Mrs. E. C. Stillings; vice president, Mrs. Frank Black; secretary, Mrs. Vivian Smith and treasurer, Mrs. Belle Kay.

Features of the evening program centering around Christmas was the Christmas story in song; with this part of the program conducted by Mrs. Wave Carlson. Mrs. Stillings told a beautiful Christmas story or family life. Pleasing refreshments were served by the hostess and committee.

LOCALS

Mrs. W. H. Brazee and daughter, Miss Margaret Brazee spent one day of last week in Buffalo where they visited Mrs. Brazee's daughter, Mrs. George Sevok who is making a very god recovery from her recent operation. She is now a patient at the Millard-Fillmore Hospital.

Mrs. Charles Henry and daughter have just returned from Baltimore where they spent several weeks. Mrs. Henry's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Henry, are now making their home in Baltimore.

Mrs. Jennie Finlan, who is now able to be about her home, as one of the first steps in recovery from an operation, enjoyed this week visits from Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. John Moore of Sugar Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Finlan of Bradford and Mr. and Mrs. James Abbott of Mayville.

Bruce Mays, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mays, had the misfortune to break his arm this week and is now carrying it in a cast.

Peace on earth

"PEACE ON EARTH!"
How we've longed
to hear those words.
For four years, we were shut off from the happiness they hold.
Peace? Gone.
The world was dark and grim.
Happiness? None.
Not with empty places
in our homes and in our hearts.

Christmas? No festive holiday.
But perhaps we learned
its deeper, spiritual side,
during the war.
Now that the war is over,
let's not forget. Let's remember
the solemnity of other Christmases.
Let us be thankful for the return of
"Peace on Earth."

Sylvania Electric Products Inc. extends sincere good wishes to all its employees, friends and neighbors for a Merry Christmas and a Bright, Happy New Year.

Little-All-America Eleven Revived; 1 State Lad Named

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Dec. 13—(AP)—The south, placing five players, dominated the 1945 Little-All-America football team, revived today after a two-year hiberation because of the war. One Pennsylvanian, Bob Eyer, brilliant end for Lock Haven Teachers, won a first-team place. His home is in Beeche Creek Clinton county.

Eyer is one of only two freshmen on the first team. He previously was named on the AP All-Pennsylvania team.

Although many of the schools in this class have not yet returned to football since the return of peace, this year's Little-All-America need to offer no opologies to its predecessors—nor to many of the teams picked from players more in the public eye.

The squad, dotted with returned servicemen, includes a backfield ace who took over the coaching duties when his team's mentor became ill, and is further marked by the presence of two members of the stalwart Miami, Fla., University line on the first team.

The Florida outfit, spearheaded by a pair of senior forwards, Center William Levitt and Guard Ed Cameron, started the campaign as one of the smaller schools but with an ambitious football schedule. It wound up the season with eight victories, one defeat, one tie and a bid to the Orange Bowl.

Miami's post-war plans make this probably the last year the school and its players will be eligible for Little-All-America consideration.

Along with Levitt and Cameron on the first team are Theodore Molitor of St. Thomas in Minnesota, and Eyer of Lock Haven, Pa., Teachers, at end; Thomas (Bo) Stewart of Chattanooga and Robert Kirkman of Dakota Wesleyan, at the tackles; and Andy Kavounis of Presbyterian at the remaining guard post.

The backfield is comprised of Carroll Bowen of Catawba, at Quarter; Walter Trojanowski of Conecticut, the nation's leadeing scorer, and James Boswell of Oberlin, in the two halfback slots, and Walter (Old Reliable) Schlinkman of Texas Tech, at fullback.

The first team averages 21 5/11 years in age, a fraction under six feet in height and displaces 192 pounds per man.

Rousing Meet Urges Boost In Athletics

Post-war athletics and sports were in for resounding support here today following a rousing meeting held last night at the YMCA of some of the foremost boosters in the area of sports of all sorts.

Some 47 men attended the confab, the second since the organization of the group, and much enthusiasm over the prospects of the organization boosting, sponsoring, and keeping alive sports and other activities in the county was shown.

A committee was appointed by temporary chairman "Rusty" Elliott to draw up the by-laws of the organization and nominate officers for approval at the next meeting. The committee consists of Claude Schindler, Joe Gardner, "Pikey" Wright, John Berdine, Pete Fanaritis, Richard Schumacher, Bill Rice, Willard Foley, Lester Blair and Sidney Blackman. This committee also recommended that the following act as temporary officers until an election is held: chairman—"Rusty" Elliott; treasurer—Myron Jewell; secretary—Gerould Ostergard.

Membership cards were distributed to all members present at last night's conference, and without a doubt there will be a membership of 200 when the group convenes again. The next meeting will be held sometime soon at the Y.

Snowshoes In Good Fettle For Hunters

Next Monday, December 17 the season on snow shoe rabbits will be ushered in for the hunters of this section. According to Game Protector George Norris Warren county has perhaps more snowshoe rabbits in its borders than most of the other counties in this section.

The snow shoes are bigger than the cottontails that are commonly known hereabouts and make their home in isolated barrens back in the hills. Only enthusiastic hunters, as a rule, get the snowshoes as they require some hard work to locate.

However, Mr. Norris states that the hunters who get out into the section where the snowshoes make their home will be well rewarded. There are plenty of snowshoes and they are in good shape awaiting the hunters.

Behind the Lines

AP All-State

For the first time in recent years, western teams dominate the Associated Press All-State scholastic football team. Eight of the eleven boys selected for the first team played on teams west of the Susquehanna River, including big Joe Zuravleff, spectacular lineman for Erie Technical. Zuravleff, whose pass-snagging won him fame on the Erie outfit this season and last, was named to the left end post.

Seven other local players received berths on the second and third teams and honorable mention. Bob Morgan, of Erie Academy, was named halfback on the second string, and Len Ekimoff and Pittsley, respectively of Erie Tech and DuBois, took positions on the third team. Honorable mentions went to Wachter, Erie Academy tackle; Oven, Ridgway guard; Dillman, DuBois center; and Swanson, Erie East back.

Munich Deer Hunter

Cpl. Frank W. Zawacki, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zawacki, Pittsfield, who is attached to the Occupation Forces in Munich, Germany, as a dental assistant in the Medical Corps, writes home of his deer hunting experiences "over there."

Zawacki relates that he was walking through the woods near his optpost and ran across three deer. Unable to load his gun in ample time to fire, he proceeded upon his way. He then saw two more, and again another. Zawacki shot one of the two, cleaned it and proceeded to return to camp. He says that the kill weighed between 50 and 60 pounds, but he still prefers good Pennsylvania deer.

Here's Your Chance

Perhaps sometime in your life you've had some sort of urge to write for a magazine; and, too, maybe you've never had the opportunity to do so. Come 1946, a new outdoor magazine will appear on the market, and it will deal primarily with the participating sportsman and outdoorsman, although the widest coverage will also be given to all sports and sport hobbies.

Articles and pictures on all phases of hunting, fishing, golf, sailing, yachting, motor boating, canoeing, tennis, dogs, shooting, sports aviation, and skiing will be emphasized.

The new magazine will be in the market each month for sizeable amounts of material, ranging from short, pithy fillers to articles of 2500 to 3000 words. Illustrated features will be particularly desirable.

Send your articles to: Eric Friedheim, Managing Editor, Sportsman Publication, 545 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

After much debate, the final score of the Warren-Youngsville game has been changed from 54-14 to 56-14. A basket was not credited to substitute Gail Nelson in the original score. All together, the Dragon team has recorded a total of 189 pounts in four games, an average of 45 and 4/5 points per game. The opponents have racked up only 98 markers, an average of 24½ per contest. In other words, the locals have optpointed their rivals by 21 and 3/8 points per game. . . . Any local basketball teams desiring independent games with a Titusville independent five are asked to write Walt Basorek, Washington Restaurant, Titusville. . . . If young hopefuls from Kane and Corry are correct, Warren's Dragons are in for two losses in the next two weeks. A Kane player, spotting the locals Tuesday, said, "We won't have any trouble at all." And a Corry player, after the game, said, "We'll give them the works on our own court."

General Condition Of Patton Is Good

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 13—(AP)—The commanding officer of army hospital where Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., is under treatment for paralysis, said tonight there was "a good chance" that the American commander might be on his feet again.

The fracture of the vertebra in Patton's neck was reduced, he said, but it is still impossible to determine how much damage was done to the spinal cord.

Doctors in attendance said the general had spent a good night and that his general condition remained satisfactory, with no complications.

The medical bulletin indicated, however, that there had been no marked change in the paralysis from which Patton is sufferi g as the result of a broken neck sustained in an automobile accident last Sunday near Mannheim.

The noon bulletin said the general had a good night and is cheerful and alert.

Jap Skipper Questioned At Court Martial

nounced he was ready to call the Japanese officer, Iko Hashimoto, the chief defense counsel, Capt. John P. Cady, entered formal objection to the "idea of calling an officer of an enemy force noted for despicable treachery" to testify against an American naval officer.

He objected to admitting the Japanese testimony against McVay "on a question involving his entire future career."

He said he felt sure he was expressing the feelings of all American citizens and especially those who served in the armed forces, against "any such spectacle."

Hashimoto was the skipper of enemy submarine I-58, which the Japanese have claimed sent the Indianapolis to the bottom with every man aboard either killed, missing or wounded.

Guffey Speaks At Farmers' Meeting

Altoona, Dec. 13—(AP)—Sen. Joseph F. Guffey (D-Pa) told Pennsylvania farmers last night they should give "support to the battle" labor unions "are making for a fair share of the wealth they produce."

Addressing a two-day conference of farm representatives from the commonwealth's 67 counties studying next year's production goals, Sen. Guffey declared one of their most important goals should be "to enlist your sympathies in support of the effort labor is making to better its economic status through proper and just demands."

Guffey said the record of food grown during World War II showed the farmer's problem "is not one of production. The farmer's real problem is markets."

Clyde A. Zehner, chairman of the state committee of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, told the 200 representatives that the 1945 goals for milk, chickens, eggs, wheat, rye, hogs, turkeys and other crops were exceeded while many other goals were approximated.

DEFENDANT IN RADIO MURDER ENTERS PLEA

Uniontown, Dec. 13—(AP)—Blair Krieger, 71, defendant in the "radio slaying" Oct. 26, in front of his home near here, will tell his story of the rifle death of John Molchan, 53, of Uniontown, at a juryless trial before Judge E. J. McDaniel, beginning Monday.

Kreiger appeared before the court yesterday and pleaded guilty of murder, aggravated assault, and assault and battery. The prosecution indicated, before the plea was entered, it would seek to impose a penalty no greater than that for manslaughter.

Judge McDaniel will hear testimony to determine the degree of guilt.

Molchan was found dead of a bullet wound after he had gone to Kreiger's home to discuss how long and how loud a radio should play. Kreiger hid three days in a cornfield a mile from his home before officers placed him under arrest.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Nearly 40,000 workers in Pennsylvania plants of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., and the General Electric Corp., were involved in the strike vote being taken today by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

The number of eligible voters in Westinghouse plants in the state was figured by the National Labor Relations Board at 30,925 and in General Electric Works at 7,445.

An estimated 7,000 of the General Electric workers are employed at the big Erie works. The BLRB also listed about 275 eligible to vote at New Kensington and 170 at East Liberty, Pittsburgh.

were exempted from the treatment by the order.

Other evidence submitted today showed Nazis used prisoners of war as munition plant workers in violation of international law.

American prosecutors produced documents showing that defendant Fritz Sauckel, the Nazi slave labor boss, reported in June, 1943, that prisoners of war formed a large element of the 800,000 foreign workers drafted for forced labor in armament plants in the previous five months.

Revealing that Hitler's policy of enslavement of conquered peoples met with resistance, Sauckel declared in the report filed as evidence that "unfortunately quite a number of our officials and employes were victims of murders and attacks by partisans."

Hull, who spent several days on the stand, is scheduled to return for additional questioning later.

In an affidavit to Clausen Feb. 13, 1945, Col. Carlisle C. Dusenbury, on duty in the army intelligence division here in 1941, said he began delivery of the 14 point message at 9 a. m. Dec. 7, 1941, and finished at the state department as Hull was meeting with the Japanese.

Eagles Plan Kiddies' Party Next Saturday

Warren Aerie of Eagles is planning for its annual Kiddies Party for children of the members in the Eagle building, and it is expected that there will be an immense crowd in attendance.

The affair will be limited strictly to children of the lodge members and a huge Christmas tree will be gaily decorated and piles of gifts will be found about it. Old Santa himself will be present and every kiddie will receive a treat.

The committee in charge is hard at work on the project and a joyly time is anticipated.

GIVEN PRISON TERM FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

Easton, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Thirty-seven-year-old Mark Peters, convicted of raping Mabel Harris, 15, of Philadelphia, was sentenced to 1½ to 3 years in prison.

Peters was charged with attacking the girl after he had picked up her and her companion, Myron Semunchick, 14—both escapees from Allentown State Hospital—as they walked along a road not far from Easton.

He denied the attack in court yesterday and asserted he signed a statement following his arrest which admitted the rape because "they had me all worried and I had no money for counsel."

Students Give Fine Program For Boosters

Special music arranged by Chairman Harry Summers for the Tuesday night meeting of Warren School Music Boosters Club, held in Beaty school auditorium, centered about the Christmas theme.

First on the program was a brass sextet, composed of Dale Soderberg, Bob Gibb, Bill Taylor, Henry Blick, Bill Erickson and Don White, playing "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen," "Deck the Halls," and "Good King Wenceslas." The next group was seven clarinets, Donlyn Baird, Bill Blair, Bill Fuellhart, Wayne Klenck, Elizabeth Bathurst, Wilmer Latshaw and Eddie Wood, playing Ernest Schmidt's "Menuetto" and a special arrangement of "O Holy Night." Heard in a double quartet were Nancy Maneval, Mary Mangus, Jean Smith, Carol Kirberger, Bob Huck, Harrison Wood, Lewis Lowe and Bill Hill. Their numbers were "O Holy Night," with Nancy Maneval as soloist; "A Babe So Tender" and "Before the Paling of the Stars." Concluding the student presentation was a choral ensemble of about 25 high school girls, singing "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming," "Christmas Lullaby," with Patty Dexter as soloist, and "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas."

For the brief business meeting conducted by President Creed Erickson, a report from William Glassman asked for a meeting of the incorporation committee previously named. Mr. Summers was named to succeed Harry Thurn on this committee and Basil White and Richard Smith were added to the group.

Mr. Summers invited all Boosters to the Christmas carol festival to be held at Beaty gym next Monday evening.

There was discussion concerning ways of increasing attendance at the monthly meetings and the members again voted a full-page advertisement for the Dragon.

TIP-OFF NOTE IS DESCRIBED IN AFFIDAVIT

Investigators Learn That Hull May Have Gone To Parley Without Knowing Reply Was Intercepted

MARSHALL IS RECALLED

BULLETIN

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, flushing with anger, asserted today the army commander in Hawaii was given a "definite" alert order before the Japanese attacked Dec. 7, 1941, and that he felt that he could expect it would be carried out. Marshall testified before the senate-house committee investigationg the attack. Previously, the investigators had learned that Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, the Hawaiian commander, established only an anti-sabotage alert in response to a warning message Nov. 27 from Washington.

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—General George C. Marshall said today that American bombers would have been justified in sinking any Japanese ships that appeared in Hawaiian waters before the war began.

Marshall told the senate-house committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, that the appearance of such vessels would have been "an overt act."

As Marshall returned to the stand for the seventh day, the committee learned that former Secretary of State Hull may have gone to his last conference with Japanese "peace" envoys Dec. 7, 1941, without knowing of their diplomatic reply which had been intercepted and decoded.

An affidavit submitted to the committee showed that the 14-part Japanese message—described by some witnesses as a tipoff that war was near—was delivered to the state department by an army officer just as Hull me Ambassadors Saburo Kurusu and Kichisaburo Nomura.

Marshall also said, in reply to a question, that he thought a flight of foreign planes over Hawaii would have been an overt act.

Marshall noted that the Nov. 27 message, while expressing the desire that Japan make the first overt act, specifically told the overseas commanders they were not committed to a course of action which would "jeopardize" your defense."

Questioning of Marshall about when he received the important 14-point message has been extensive. Several witnesses have said that the 14tn part, combined with a message to the Japanese to deliver at at 1 p. m., Washington time, was the tip that hostile action was imminent.

Whether Hull ever read any of the 14 parts before he talked to the Japanese remained unclear in affidavits collected by Lt. Col. Henry C. Clausen. Clausen was

Police Minus Clue In Lipstick Death

Chicago, Dec. 13—(AP)—Police investigators rounding up one suspect after another still were without a definite break today in the lipstick slaying Monday of Miss Frances Brown, 33, a former Wave, in her North Side hotel apartment.

There was one flurry when a man whose wife asked police to take him to the psychopathic hospital muttered to detectives that he wanted to "get something off my chest." Detectives Charles Steffen reported, however, that most of the man's statements were incoherent.

It developed his sister lives in an apartment adjacent to that of Miss Brown, but the man's wife said he had not left his home in two weeks.

Numerous other suspects, among them men with sex crime records, were cleared almost as fast as they were picked up and questioned.

Miss Brown's nude body, shot twice and stabbed twice, was found draped over the edge of the bathtub in her tiny apartment. On the wall of the living room, scrawled in lipstick, was the message:

"For heaven's sake catch me before I kill more. I can not control myself."

Drama of War Unfolded In Naval Files

By POPE HALEY

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—One of the great dramas of the war—the loss of the light cruiser Juneau and the harrowing experiences of her handful of ten survivors—has been pieced together from scattered sources in navy department files.

The final casualty toll in the ship's loss was 37 officers and 647 enlisted men, either dead or missing in action.

The Juneau was just eight months in service when she was mortally wounded in her second major action in the battle of Guadalcanal, which marked the end of Japanese aggression to the south.

Crippled by a torpedo, the Juneau was forced to retire from action. Later the same day, November 13, 1942, she was again torpedoed. She sank within a minute. Among the victims were the five Sullivan brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan, of Waterloo, Iowa.

When the water calmed after the ship went under, the small group of survivors huddled on and around life rafts, life floats and debris.

A grim night followed, during which several of the group died. The next day sharks attacked, and one man had the skin ripped off one hand by a savage shark. That day a plane roared overhead and dropped an uninflated rubber raft about two hundred yards away. Despite the sharks, Signalman First Class Joseph P. J. Hartney, New Britain, Conn., decided to swim for it.

"The sharks were cowards," he related later. "All I had to do was kick my feet when they came at me and they were scared away."

Former Corry Man Dies Driving Car

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Joseph Downs, 61, of Allison Park, died from a heart attack at the wheel of his automobile here yesterday and his car, going out of control, crashed into a tree, severely injuring his wife, Clara.

John S. Aldisert, deputy coronenr, reported that Downs was pronounced dead by a coroner's physician at a residence near where he suffered the attack.

Mrs. Downs was taken to Allegheny General Hospital with fractured right leg and chest injuries. Her condition was described as fair.

The Downs formerly lived in Corry.

Downs was a retired railroad dispatcher.

The couple were returning to their home in Ferguson avenue, Allison Park, from Etna, at the time.

Downs had celebrated his sixty-first birthday Sunday. A grandson died a few hours after birth last Friday.

STEEL UNION DENIES PACT IS VIOLATED

General Counsel Declares In Formal Resolution That Workers Are Within Right In Planning Strike

INTERVENTION IS HINTED

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Supported by an opinion from their general counsil Lee Pressman, the CIO-United Steel Workers declared in a formal resolution they are within their contract rights in going ahead with plans for a nationwide strike Jan. 14.

The strike, set for Jan. 14 by the U. S. W.'s 175-man wage policy committee, to enforce the union's demand for a $2 a day wage increase.

A resolution, adopted by the same committee late yesterday, asserted the union "has meticulously adhered to the terms of the contract and will continue to do so."

At news conference, Phillip Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steel Workers, held out no hope the union will take any new step to avert a strike.

Asked if government intervention might halt a walkout, Murray said the union would accept a government invitation to negotiate with a federal labor conciliator present—if the U. S. Steel Corp. would also accept the invitation.

Such action, Murray said, would at least postpone the strike.

The steelworkers' head had "no comment" when asked what sis union would do should legislation proposed by President Truman to curb strikes be adopted before Jan. 14.

Defending the demand for a $2 a day raise, the CIO president declared average weekly earnings for steel workers are now about $46, a drop of $11 since the war's end.

The wage policy committee, in its resolution, answered a charge by the Iron and Steel Institute that steelworkers' contracts contained a clause "wherein the union agrees not to strike during the life of the contract." The contracts expire in October, 1946.

The union contended the clause permits it to "reopen the contract for a general wage increase upon a change in national wage policy," and added such a change "has been announced and the War Labor Board, in a unanimous resolution, has expressly decognized that the union is free to bargain with respect to a general wage increase."

Installment Car Sales Is Under Probe

Harrisburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—Reinforced in its impression of "exorbitant" financing charges in the installment purchases of automobiles, a legislative committee set its staff today to analyzing stacks of records as a basis for a report to the public.

Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, chairman, and State Senator John M. Walker, vice-chairman, said afteh a committee session yesterday that a "quick analysis" upheld the committee's earlier findings.

The information is being amassed from application forms for transfer of certificates of title. They break down the interest and other financing charges. Lichtenwalter said "we feel that's where one of the main sharp practices is taking place."

After the study is completed, automobile dealers, finance companies and others dealing in consumer credit "whose information on the applications seems to be out of line with accepted business practices" will be called in to explain charges", Lichtenwalter said.

"These automobile finance companies are still charging exhorbitant rates," said Walker. "The buyer should insist on knowing the rate of interest he is obliged to pay on his unpaid balance, and he should demand proof of it."

The 1945 legislature authorized the committee to investigate and make recommendations to the next session of the general assembly. It will have another meeting in January, and start public hearings in February.

Election Reform Is Planned In Japan

By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokio, Dec. 13—(AP)—Election reform legislation revolutionnary in Japanese history is expected to be passed by the house of peers—probably tomorrow—as a first step toward proportionate representation.

While the diet whestled with political reform, General MacArthur attacked on the economic front, directing the Japanese government to inaugurate a broad relief program to provide food, clothing, housing, medical care, financial aid and welfare services for unemployed this winter.

The relief plan, when ready, must be submitted in detail for Allied approval. The government also was ordered to take all necessry steps to prevent discrimination in distribution of food.

Newspapers In State Short Of Newsprint Will Be Aided

Harrisburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—Daily and weekly newspapers in Pennsylvania facing suspension because of a critical newsprint shortage received assurance of aid today under a plan announced by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Publishers with sufficient inventories are being asked by the PNPA to furnish the equivalent of not more than three per cent of their 1945 consumption to help others who are in desperate need of newsprint.

PNPA Manager William N. Hardy said no newspaper will have as much newsprint as it could use for the first half of 1946, yet "many of they have offered to heup any paper facing suspension."

A statement issued by the PNPA said that newspapers will end 1945 with the lowest end-of-the-year newsprint inventories in more than five years.

Not more than 98 per cent of the tonnage used in the first six months of 1941 will be available in the first six months of 1946, the statement said.

All publishers of newspapers as defined by the Pennsylvania Newspaper advertising act of 1925 are eligible, Hardy said.

Better Plan To Get Out the Snow Shovel

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Western Pennsylvania may look for a substantial snowfall tonight and tomorrow, the weather bureau said today.

The storm swirled eastward through Indianapolis last night and Columbus, O., this morning, and was expected to hit this area either during the late afternoon or early evening. A temperature drop to 27 degrees was expected.

In its wake the storm left at least two inches of snow throughout the central states.

Labor Bills Sidetracked For Present

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—Congress members, aligned with the big unions against pending labor legislation voiced satisfaction today that they had one measure headed for the boneyard and another stalled off at least until next year.

Representatives who fought unsuccessfully to head off house approval of a bill making unions liable under the 1934 anti-racketeering act said they were confident it would die in the senate.

As for President Truman's proposal of a law blocking strikes for 30 days while fact-finding boards look into labor disputes, house and senate leaders said privately they still thought chances were mighty slim congress would get around to it before the Christmas recess.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday he had reason to believe the measure would be enacted before the holiday, as he requested.

Even Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, a backer of the president's proposal, conceded however, that if the senate labor committee went ahead with plans to call about 100 witnesses no immediate action was in sight.

Schwellenbach testified for the bill at the senate group's hearing yesterday. In the meanwhile AFL resident William Green opposed it at a house labor committee hearing. Today they switched committees.

The house gave one-sided approval yesterday to an amendment which would make unions punishable for "robbery or extortion" within the scope of the 1934 act. But Rep. Marcantonio (Amn. Lab. N. Y.) remarked today that a similar bill failed to clear a senate committee last year and declared: "The same thing will happen again."

Another controversy with labor angles—the so-called "full employment" issue—reached the stage of house debate today.

MOTHER ACQUITTED IN DEATH OF HER BABE

Greensburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—A jury of nine men and three women last night acquitted Mrs. Emma Fabry, 21, of West Leechburg, of a murder charge in connection with the death of her new-born daughter last May 21.

The jury deliberated four hours and 55 minutes and returned its verdict to Judge Richard D. Laird.

The state claimed that after the baby was born, to a man other than her husband, she strangled it and placed it in a pile of straw. Mrs. Fabry denied she choked the infant, or had intended to choke it.

FAIR TO BE RESUMED

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—Discontinued four years ago because of the war, Allegheny county's annual fair at South Park, will be resumed in 1946, county commissioners decided yesterday.

Recluse Leaves A Quarter Million

Pittsburgh, Dec. 13—(AP)—"Old Bill, the trader," who never seemed to have more than enough money for coffee and doughnuts, may have left a quarter million dollar fortune, relatives said today.

"Old Bill" wasn't really Bill at all, though that was the name the 77-year-old man was given by barbers whose scissors he sharpened.

His real name was Fred Goldsmith but few knew it until his death in his simply-furnished room in a lodging house.

A brother, Alex Goldsmith, estimated the extent of Fred's fortune but even he will not know until a court order is obtained to open "Old Bill's" safety deposit box in a bank.

Deputy coroners said Goldsmith left bank books showing deposits of $13,000 and that he paid taxes on stocks and bonds valued at $70,000. Brother Alex said Fred's will, made in 1925, left "sizeable amounts" to local charities, including the Salvation Army, the Jewish Home for Babies, and the Home for Crippled Children.

No Immediate Settlement Of Dispute Between Union and Auto Industry Is In Prospect

By the Associated Press

The long and bitter wage dispute between the CIO United Auto Workers Union and the automotive industry's "Big Three" continued today without any indication of immediate settlement.

There was some hope, however, that intervention of President Truman in the 23-day-old strike at General Motors might hasten efforts of the union and the company to reach an agreement.

Union officials have expressed the belief a settlement with either General Motors, Ford Motor Company or the Chrysler Corporation would set a pattern which would aid in solving disputes with the others.

Today's negotiations by the union were with General Motors. Other union officials, their demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase rejected by Ford yesterday, mapped further plans for discussions at tomorrow's conference.

Today's union-GM session was to be confined largely to discussion of the company's charge of "illegal picketing" at some of the more than 70 strike-bound plants where 213,000 workers have been idle since Nov. 21.

President Truman's appointment of a fact-finding board in the General Motors' dispute brought a prompt pledge of cooperation from union leaders, although the union earlier had opposed government intervention in the strike. Comment was withheld by General Motors.

The Ford Company, in rejecting the union's wage demands, said that on the basis of OPA price ceilings and with no increases in wages it would lose about $35,000,000 next year.

As continuing labor disputes throughout the country kept idle some 400,000 workers, a nationwide strike vote was taken today among a union-estimated 200,000 CIO Electrical Workers.

A work stoppage by 60 bus drivers and 15 mechanics employed by the Potomac Edison Company disrupted transportation in Cumberland, Md., a city of 40,000 population. An AFL union official said company refusal to abritrate resulted in a breakdown of contract negotiations.

The AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America is seeking wages of $1.10 an hour as against the current scale of 87 cents an hour.

Housing Need In State To Be Surveyed

Harrisburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—The state housing board rushed ahead today with plans to determine the existing need for new homes in Pennsylvania and ascertain the factors currently impending a comprehensive housing program.

The board, acting concurrently with President Truman's move to break the bottleneck of the housing shortage at the national level, will conduct a survey to find out how many homes costing less than $10,000 per unit are now under construction or are planned for construction in communities throughout the state.

Chairman Ritchie Lawrie, Jr., said after a board meeting yesterday that private and public agencies and officials, including mayors and burgesses, will be asked to estimate the scope of shortage.

He declined to comment on President Truman's appointment of a housing "czar" and proposed establishment of ceiling prices on old and new homes.

The board also requested communities with serious housing shortages take steps immediately to form a housing authority to work with the state group.

Hanging Is Sentence For Camp Guards

Dachau, Dec. 13—(AP)—A U. S. military court today sentenced 36 officials and guards at the notorious Dachau concentration camp to death by hanging for the murder, torture and starvation of thousands of the camp's inmates.

Another defendant was sentenced to life imprisonment and three others were sentenced to terms of 10 years each.

The 40 defendants were convicted yesterday by the military tribunal, which debated only 90 minutes before bringing in its verdict. Among those convicted were five camp doctors and three prisoners who had collaborated with the S. S.

Witnesses at the trial said that 5,000 Jews were killed at Dachau, that inmates were brutally beaten, that naked men were immersed in ice wate for experiments and that some men were sent to the crematory while still alive.

The camp was the most notorious and most feared of the concentration camps set up by the Nazis for political prisoners.

The men who operated the horror camp received their sentences calmly for the most part, only a few showing any change of expression.

The life sentence went to Peter Betz, a guard, against whom there was little evidence of personal cruelty. Ten-year terms were given Hugo Lausterer, who was drafted into the S. S., and against whom no personal accusations of cruelty were made; and Johann Schoepp, who was drafted from the Romanian army by the S. S. and assignend to guard the Dachau tower.

Dr. Klaus Karl Schilling, 74, who killed many prisoners in experiment through which he sought a malaria vaccine, and S. S. Officer Martin Weiss, commandant of the camp, were among the 36 sentenced to die.

Schilling, who last week begged the court for time to complete his experimental records, blinked his eyes rapidly and bowed his bearded head when he heard the words: "Death by hanging."

US Not Committed In July of 1941

Washington, Dec. 13—(AP)—Pearl Harbor investigators learned today that Gen. George C. Marshall and Adm. Harold R. Stark told British military leaders in July, 1941, that they could not commit the United States to go to war if Japan attacked British or Dutch territory.

The senate-house committee investigating Japan's Dec. 7, 1941 attack was given a Marshall-Stark memorandum on their reasons for refusing to approve a report on American - Dutch-British conversations held at Singapore in April of that year.

Marshall and Stark, contending that the report contained "political matters," cited a paragraph saying:

"Our collective military strength can only be developed fully if our government agree to act together, should any of them judge that the Japanese have taken action which necessitated active military counter-action."

BARBARIC TROPHIES ADDED TO EVIDENCE OFFERED AGAINST 21 TOP GERMAN WAR CHIEFS

Jew-Baiter Julius Streicher, Alone of the Defendants, Remains Unmoved As Others Avert Eyes From Grisly Display at Trial

U. S., BRITISH PARACHUTISTS REPORTED HANGED

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Nuernberg, Dec. 13—(AP)—A preserved head and lamp shades made of human skin were presented as evidence of atrocities in Nazi concentration camps at the war crimes trial of 21 top German war leaders today.

The grisly exhibits were added to the Germans' own records of murder and brutality placed before the four-power international military tribunal by Allied prosecutors charging the once-powerful Nazi warlords with "crimes against humanity."

The preserved head, shrunk to the size of a baseball and resembling the war trophy of an aboriginal head hunter, was that of a Pole who had been caught fraternizing with a German girl.

The three pieces of human skin tanned into parchment for lampshades for the wife of SS Standartenfuehrer Koch came from victims at Buchenwald selected because of their "artistic" tattooing, according to an affidavit by a former inmate of the concentration camp.

Jew-baiter Julius Streicher, alone of all the defendants, remained unmoved. The others averted their eyes but from time to time stole glances at the barbaric trophies.

The "death ledgers" of the Mauthausen concentration camp recorded the deaths of more than 35,000 inmates from 1939 to 1945. On March 19, 1945, 203 persons died in 12 hours, the records showed.

Mauthausen was the camp where Joseph Morton, Associated Press war correspondent, according to available evidence, was executed last winter on the signed order of Secret Police Chief Ernst Kaltenbrunner, one of the 21 defendants. An American army investigator declared that the camp "was conducted with the sole purpose in mind of exterminating any so-called prisoner who entered within its walls."

Another report said 13 American and British parachutists were hanged at the Flossenberg concentration camp after their capture.

A sttaement from a Budapest Zionist leader disclosed that Hungarian Jews who were too young or too old to serve as slave laborers were automatically consigned to death in concentration camp gas chambers.

American prosecutors, supporting the charge against 21 Nazi leaders of "crimes against humanity", introduced the affidavit of Rudolph Kastner, leader of a Hungarian Zionist organization, reporting SS troops seized 475,000 Hungarian Jews in 1944 and transported them to the reich in "death trains."

"Children up to the age of 12 or 14 and older people above 50 as well as the sick or people with criminal records were taken immediately on their arrival (at Oswiecim concentration camp) to the gas chambers," Kastner declared in his affidavit.

The others passed before an SS doctor who, on sight, indicated who was fit for work and who was not. Those unfit were sent to the gas chambers while the others distributed in various labor camps."

Disclosing another breach of international law by the Germans, U. S. Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd produced a secret S.S. order showing the high commano had dirdected that prisoners of war who escaped and were later recaptured should be transported to the Mauthausen prison camp and their fate kept secret from the international Red Cross.

Jap Skipper Is Questioned At Court Martial

Washington, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Iko Hashimoto, a Japanese submarine commander, told a navy court martial today his ship fired three torpedoes into a "dark object" which it sighted 290 miles from Palau on the night of July 29-30.

His submarine had been trailing its target for 27 minutes, the witness related.

He said he fired torpedoes in salvos of three at three-second intervals and saw three hits through his periscope.

Hashimoto was admitted as a witness despite vigorous objection by defense counsel for Capt. Charles B. McVay, 3rd, being tried on charges of negligence and inefficiency in the loss of his heavy cruiser, the Indianapolis, that night en route from Guam to Leyte.

The court admitted the Japanese officer as a witness after ruling it was proper to subject him to a double oath. He was given both the standard oath prescribed by U. S. naval procedure, as well as that used in Japanese court martial.

Byrnes Is Delayed By Bad Weather

By REMBERT JAMES

Moscow, Dec. 13—(AP)—A United States embassy spokesman said today that U. S. Secretary of State Bynes and his party, enroute here for three-power talks, had been delayed by bad weather.

He said the group might arrive as late as Sunday.

Previously, Byrnes had been expected to arrive today.

(The French press agency said Byrnes had arrived in Paris, a report that was confirmed by an official at Orly Field, chief military airport. Considerable secrecy attended his arrival and the field was cleared of all personnel well before his plane touched ground.)

Great public interest in Russia centered on the forthcoaming conference of Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and Foreign Commissar Molotov.

Paris, Dec. 13—(AP)—The French News Agency reported today that Secretary of State Byrnes, en route to the Moscow conference, had arrived in Paris.

Officials at Orly Field, principal military airport, declined comment.

Foreign Loans Discussed By Martin At Grange Meeting

Clearfield, Dec. 13—(AP)—The idea of making loans to foreign countries to stimulate U. S. markets "is economically unsound," Governor Martin asserted today, but, he said, "loans can be made to buy surplus products to feed the hungry of the world."

"Such loans should be made in a businesslike manner," the governor sadi in an address prepared for a meeting of the Pennsylvania Grange.

"We should help feed the hungry, as a matter of common humanity," Martin went on. "We can count also on the favor and good will of these unfortunate people in the coming years. This can help in creating a union of nations for preserving world peace. At the same time, it will give us a real market and an honest market for our surpluses."

The governor said "the wise farmer knows that subsidies and legislation will not do the job. x x x The job can be done only by more efficient methods, by cutting costs of production with mechanized equipment, the use of fertilizer, by scientific methods, and by brains and sweat."

On the subject of grants to veterans, Martin said:

"We still favor giving them every possible opportunity. The families of those who made the supreme sacrifice must be supported. The sick and the incapacitated must have every care that money, skill and loving hands can give.

In all these things, however, we must all bear in mind that the veterans of this war will eventually pay one-half of all the costs of government. They are the cream of the crop, the workers and doers of tomorrow. Eventually they will pay the bill."

At yesterday's meeting the Grange conferred the sixth degree upon a class of 800 members. Officials said it was the first time in 11 years that a sixth degree ceremony was held in Pennsylvania.

About 1,000 persons attending the convention heard an address by National Lecturer James C. Farmer of New Hampshire.

Children Can Help

Manager George Sarvis, cooperating with the agencies which are sponsoring the local collection of canned foods for overseas relief, has arranged a gala holiday event for the younger fry at Warner Brothers' Library Theatre. The date set is one week from Saturday, December 22, and admission to a big show for the boys and girls will be one No. 2 can of food. The film secured by Mr. Sarvis for this special theatre party is "Here Comes Elmer", and with it will be shown a number of animated cartoons sure to delight every child in attendance. Mothers will welcome the opportunity of doing last-minute shopping or attending to their preparations for the holiday while the younger members of the family are safe and happily entertained at this theatre benefit.

Mr. Sarvis and the four boy and girl agencies who have set a goal of three tons of food for overseas shipment are hoping to see every seat filled for the performance, since by this means it is expected to add more than one-half ton to the total. Children of Warren have proved on many past occasions that they will rise to the occasion, their school collection on Tuesday of this week netting more than 1,500 cans for overseas shipment. Benefit parties of other seasons have brought in everything from potatoes to lumps of coal—now let the tin cans roll in!

HELP FOR NEEDY

At the "monthly meeting of the Warren Relief Association directors, reports showed between 50 and 60 food orders out by the agency at Thanksgiving time and milk still being delivered regularly to children on the needy list. In line with this work, friends are reminded that the agency's "milk bottles" are still in a prominent spot in most business establishments and a few cents change from Christmas purchases will never be missed by the donor.

PRESENTS LOST AT SEA

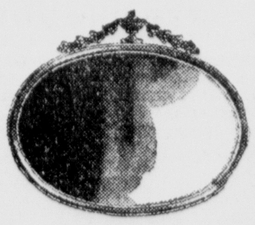

The local Post Office has requested that the following announcement be brought to the attention of our readers: "The War Department reports the loss during a violent storm of the bulk of overseas mail destined for APO 729 in the Aleutian area. This mail, which was being tran-shipped by small surface craft at the time of the loss at sea, originated in the United States during the Christmas mailing period, September 15 to October 15, when no request was required from the soldier. In order to permit the sending at once of Christmas parcels to Army personnel through APO 729, postmasters may accept one parcel from any individual for mailing to persons receiving mail through this particular APO without the usual request if the parcel is presented for mailing not later than December 20."

End of Christianity Seems To Have Been the Goal of Hitler

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London, Dec. 13—Ever since my tour of Germany at the time of the fateful Munich conference in 1938 this column has repeatedly insisted that Hitler deliberately set about to destroy Christianity in the Fatherland, substituting the pagan creed under which he himself was a messiah, because he realized that no Christian would support his plot of murder and enslavement in Europe.

Concrete evidence that this was indeed the Nazi anti-Christ's program has now been placed in my hands here in London. This is in the form of an amazing secret report recently discovered in the files of the reich security department, in Berlin, and because I regard it as of the highest importance I am breaking in on our daily account of life in the British Isles in order to report it here. It represents one of the great Allied problems in the rehalibilitation of Hitlerized Germany.

This document, which was for official guidance, analyzed the operations of the Oxford group (moral rearmament) under leadership of Dr. Frank Buchman, and warned that it was dangerous to Nazidom as an instrument of Christianity. The official files in Berlin also disclosed that directives for the suppression of the Oxford group in both Germany and in occupied countries were issued on the strength of this document.

"The Oxford group," says the document, "as a whole constitutes an attack upon the nationalism of the state, and demands the utmost watchfulness on the part of the state. It preaches revolution against the national state and has quite evidently become its Christian opponent."

Finally, in one brutally blunt line, it discloses the fuehrer's purpose to smash Christianity in Germany: "They (the Oxford group) encourage their members to place themselves fully beneath the Christian cross, and to oppose the cross of the swastika with the cross of Christ, as the former (the swastika) seeks to destroy the cross of Christ."

The report reveals that the secret police regarded the Oxford group as a force working "to bring about new political and ideological conditions in the reich. x x x at the very moment we (Nazi officialdom) are making efforts to suppress Christian conviction of sin, which is regarded as the first step towards the enslavement of the Germans, a movement is emanating from the Anglo-Saxons, who are racially related to us, which regards just this consciousness of sin as a basis for a change in personal and national relationships."

The document stresses the bond between democracy and Christianity, and says that "the Oxford group supplies the Christian religious garment for world democratic aims. It adds:

"The group and the democracies supplement each other and render each other's work fruitful. They face the common enemy, that is, all nationalistic conceptions of life which democracy opposes and fights because of its political ideology, the Oxford group opposes because of its primitive Christian arguments. Their common opposition to the modern conception of race and nation has brought them still closer together.

Leo A. Dorsey Commended As Civilian

"Mr. Leo A. Dorsey, for outstanding and meritorious service as telephone engineer, signal office, headquarters Third Service Command since July 1942. Through capable application of sound engineering skill and a clear understanding of each problem, he has ably assisted in the successful and expeditious completion of the many telephone construction projects necessitated by the tremendous communications expansions within this service command. Mr. Dorsey has demonstrated his ability to work with commercial and military representatives without friction. His careful judgments, tactful approach, total disregard of personal comfort, and proved loyalty reflect great credit to himself, his organization, and the service command."

HOW WE EARN
Farm Journal

Farmers trade food for clothes and shoes and automobiles. City people trade clothes and shoes and automobiles for food.

The facts about how we trade and prosper are partly clouded by two things—by faith in money and by faith in laws.

Money is a handy means of trading and of storing up work to trade off later. We have to use it but, however, money enters into the deal, actually we trade work and goods for work and goods.

Laws are needed to keep order. We have got into the habit of trying to use laws to fix everything that goes wrong, or that we don't quite understand. Neither laws nor money can change natural facts.

Suddenly double the supply of money. Give everybody twice as much. Will that double the supply of food? Certainly not.

Pass a law that says one hog must buy one suit of clothes, or one suit of clothes must buy one hog. What will happen? The farmer will offer the skinniest hog that is legal, and the tailor will try to get by with the shoddiest suit of clothes he can. Both will be worse off.

Give the farmer more money for fewer hogs and the tailor more money for fewer suits—still neither is better off.

Farm politicians talk about parity. Labor politicians talk about pay and hours. Business politicians want something else. Each tries to out-trade the other by getting more money for his goods and work than the other fellow gets.

We are all pretty nearly broke in America. We owe about $8,000.00 per family.

We are short of goods—goods that only work will make. The more we fight about who gets the biggest slice, the less pie there will be. We can't quarrel and produce at the same time.

All that we really earn is what we produce. Wouldn't less argument and more work get us all more goods sooner?

To have more shoes and clothes and automobiles and food somebody has got to go to work to produce these things we all need. And no laws, no monkeying with money, will make less into more. No one can eat money nor wear laws.

THEY SOUNDED GOOD ON THE AIR

Editor and Publisher makes a point, editorially, about New York Mayor LaGuardia's new radio contract at a "fabulous salary," to become effective when he leaves the public service January.

The newspaperman's magazine theorizes that La Guardia, "The Hat," may have had a "personal economic" reason for making a whipping boy out of the press during his regime at New York's city hall—and particularly in recent years. Some observers had felt LaGuardia had "whipped" the newspapers for political reasons, says the Meadville Tribunne-Republican.

Newspapers have become a popular target of criticism—particularly from public officials—and LaGuardia continnually added his two cents' worth in his weekly radio talks delivered while in the mayor's chair. Several examples of LaGuardia's criticism, "with little or no reason," were cited, and Editor and Publisher asserts—with our complete approval—that "a lot of his words about the press came out, not because they were true, but because they sounded good on the air."

With hundreds of Warren folk boosting the project to make this area a great playground and summer resort wouldn't it be a grand idea to have a booklet of some sort to send the folk showing the beauty of this region. It certainly would help if tourists could see in pictures what they could enjoy in reality if they visited Warren.

The Vermont Phoenix, of Brattleboro, Vt., considering the activities of statesmen, politicians, organized labor and organized management, says that all sum up in the simple sentence: "Let me at that trough." A philosopher come to judgment!

The easiest way to induce a youngster to go to bed is to let him stay up just a little longer.

Victory Train Starts Bond Tour

Lieut. Col. William F. Kramer, Pittsburgh, explains to Clifford Hornung, Lovell, Pa., and Bernice Isaacs, Washington, D. C., some of the heretofore secret points about captured Japanese weapons which were used against our fighting forces in the Pacific. These are only a part of the exciting exhibits to be seen on this and five other trains which are to tour the United States on behalf of the Victory Bond drive. On hand to demonstrate and explain the exhibits will be about 25 Marine officers and men, beribboned veterans of every major Marine engagement on Pacific islands. Some of the equipment to be shown includes large guns, tanks, weasels, giant searchlights, an amphibious tractor, and other heavy pieces. This train will visit our city today from 5 to 9 p. m. Admission is free.

Marine Victory Loan Train Arrives In Warren Today

Don't miss the Victory Loan Train which arrives in Warren today. It's three flat cars and two baggage cars contain an array of military equipment that will take your breath away. Many of the weapons of war about which you've read and wanted to see will be on those cars. This may be your only opportunity to see the actual guns and equipment used by the Marines in World War II. Never before have the Marines brought together for display such a large and representative group of guns, bombs, ammunition and weapons of all types.

The train which comes to Warren through the cooperation of the Nation's railroads, the Marine Corps and the Warren War Finance Committee will be at the Pennsylvania Railroad Freight Depot, Fourth Avenue and Public Way, between 5 p. m. and 9 p. m.

No admission will be charged and you will not be asked to buy bonds there but don't forget there's nothing like a Victory Bond for an extra special Christmas gift. In no other way can you so completely express your friendship and regard for those you remember on Christmas day.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1925

Christmas wreaths are now on the market, and many attractive designs from ground pine are finding a ready sale. Lack of snow on the ground makes the work of gathering much easier this year.

Harold Johnson and Howard Potts, well known local cage officials, have been chosen from Warren to handle the NWPIAA games this season. The first game pits Warren against Oil City.

Norman Burman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Burman, Park avenue, has been honored by the freshman class at Carnegie Tech by being named to the Delta Phi Delta fraternity.

Bob Shawkey, New York Yankee pitcher who was born in nearby Sigel, Pa., was fortunate in shooting a 1200-pound moose while on a hunting trip with his teammates.

In 1935

Warren was blanketed with the first heavy snow of the winter season, followed by a severe drop intemperature. Road maintenance crews have been kept busy because of the downfall.

The North Warren Presbyterians defeated the Business Men to increase their league lead at the YMCA. The HyVis Oils cage five, minus Stanky and Maury who are with the Buffalo Bisons, will go to Salamanca soon.

Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Crane, and family, of North Warren, will leave soon for Atlanta, Georgia, where they will spend the Christmas holidays with Dr. Crane's mother.

The Children's Aid Society has begun its annual solicitation for money, gifts, and toys, which are given each Christmas to needy families and children. Mrs. T. C. Wallace is the chairman of the drive.

Women Threaten to Boycott Films Showing Geo. Sanders

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood — (AP)—At least some of the women in America are beginning to resent the slurs against their sex by the characters George Sannders plays.

In "Moon and Sixpence" and "Dorian Gray," Sanders tossed around such epithets as "women represent the triumph of matter over mind." When it was announced that he would again make such derogatory remarks in the David Loew-Albert Levin picture, "Bel Ami," Mrs. J. B. Cann,, president of the Associated Women's Clubs, New York City, wrote Loew: "We have all intentions of boycotting the film, should the original plan of slander upon women be continued."

But writer - director - producer Lewin does not intend to alter his course.

Sanders merely shrugged and said Lewin puts such words in his mouth and he is not responsible. for instance, in "Moon and Sixpence" he had this line: "Women are strange little beasts. You can tread on them like dogs. You can beat them till your arm aches. And still they love you."

"I'm sorry I had to say that." Sanders told me. "I have since come to love dogs."

Ingrid Bergman is down to a whisper with laryngitis, but still working on "Notorious" . . . Victor is lining up recording rights with Tex Benecke, out of the navy and set to front the revival of Glenn Miller's band. That is good news to the legions of admirers of the Miller style.

Charles Laughton is recording Bible stories for Decca. . . Louis Calhern left for New York in such a hurry that he didn't have time to record some dialogue for "Notorious." . . . He phoned his lines in from the east . . . Funniest radio creation in years is Fred Allen's Senator Claghorn.

And this you shall nowise omit at your peril.

FARM NEWS

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, Dec. 13—(AP)—This little piggie went to market and this little piggie stayed home . . ." says the nursery rhyme, but in Pennsylvania this year few will go to city markets and most will stay home to supply the farmers' own pork needs.

Since the 410,000 pigs raised on Keystone state farms in 1945 represented a serious decline from the 1943 production of 1,357,000, the department of agriculture today predicted "country-cured" hams will continue scarce for city folks.

The farmers, however, already sharpening knives, assembling pots, pans and buckets, setting up big kettles in the viciinty of the smokehouse and collecting firewood in preparation for putting-up their winter's supply of pork.

It's an old tradition that, in some places, still sees the gathering of the family clan or neighboring families to "help out" for the annual "after-Thanksgiving" affair.

J. M. Fry, director of extension in agriculture and home economics at the Pennsylvania State College, said today farmers in the state are in "the greatest period of transition in the history of agriculture."

Several new extension service assistants have been placed in various counties, he said, to answer "varied questions on farm and home management that we have never been asked before."

Plans are under way, he added, to continue the policies of "helping farmers to help themselves" while at the same time showing new concern in matters such as community planning, health and diet, youth training for citizenship developing rural leaders, problems of marketing, and labor-saving devices, along with the new scientific developments.

A federal-state agricultural survey indicates that lateness of the harvest of fall vegetables from Pennsylvania commercial truck fars has opened the way for severe losses should heavy freezes occur.

Harvest of fall crops was greatly handicapped by wet fields and frequent rains, especially in the northwest section of the state, the survey said. Warm weather during the period slowed demand and this may result in some acreages not being harvested, it added.

Estimated production of 51,976,000 pounds of Pennsylvania seedleaf—cigar-filler tobacco—remained unchanged in an October federal-state survey announced recently by the department of agriculture.

Lancaster county tobacco was mostly housed before severe frosts came, but a sizeable acreage in northern townships of the county was damaged, the department said.

Production of Havana seed tobacco will be 471,000 pounds, latest reports revealed. With few exceptions, this type of tobacco is "curing nicely," the department said.

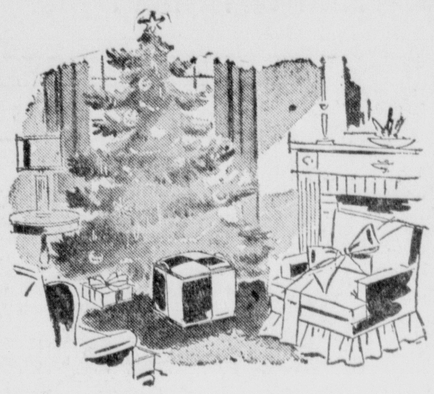

A. L. Baker, 4-H Club leader at the Pennsylvania State College, said that in 1946 the state's 4-H clubs will show greater activity not only in enrollment numbers, but in types of club projects.

Continued emphasis will be placed on production and conservation, he stated. In homemaking clubs, such projects as meal planning, preparation and serving of foods and food preservation will be stressed.

Janet Duncan Is Bride of Former Flying Tiger Pilot

Mr. and Mrs. William Duncan, 607 Madison avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Janet, to Captain Byron McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McKenzie, of Akeley, on December 8 at 7:30 p. m. in First Methodist church.

Rev. Wayne Furman performed the candlelight service against a setting of white chrysanthemums and palms. Mrs. Gladys Anderson sang "Ave Maria" and Grieg's "I Love Thee", while Evelyn Wolstencroft played the traditional organ music and other selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Margaret, as maid of honor, and Betty Jane Anderson as bridesmaid. Charles Burch, Ithaca, N. Y., was best man and ushers were Chester Christensen, of North Warren, and Willis Lundahl, Warren, all in Army Air Forces uniforms.

The bride's frock was fashioned with sweetheart neckline in a fitted bodice of white satin, long sleeves and a net skirt over taffeta, with chrysanthemums appliqued to the train. Her fingertip veil fell from a band of orange blossoms and her bouquet was of white roses and mums. Her only jewelry was the bridegroom's gift, a single strand of pearls. Attendants were similarly attired in frocks with white lace bodice and three-quarter length sleeves, scalloped peplum and skirt of net over taffeta. Arm bouquets of pink mums matched their tiaras. Mrs. Duncan wore black accessories and pink mums with a light blue enserble and Mrs. McKenzie wore black accessories and white mums with American beauty.

A reception for 100 guests followed immediately in Dunham parlors of the church, where white mums centered the bride's table. Guests included Sherwood Anderson, Kane; Mr. and Mrs. William Sleeman, Sheffield; Alex Anderson, Celoron, N. Y.; M. S. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. McKenzie, Mrs. Esther M. Deardorff, Chambersburg.

After the reception, the newlyweds left for a short wedding trip. At the first of the year they will go to Greensboro, N. C., for Captain McKenzie's next assignment. For traveling, the bride chose a suit of melon colored wool and black accessories.

A graduate of Warren High School, she was formerly employed by the Pennsylvania Gas Company. Those who have entertained for her were Mrs. Clemens Anderson and Betty Jane Anderson; Mrs. M. E. McKenzie; Margaret Duncan; Mrs. Harold Morse, and girls of the utility concern.

Captain McKenzie, also a local graduate entered military service in 1941, was commissioned as pilot in the Air Corps in October, 1943. He flew 105 missions with General Chenault's Flying Tigers and was awarded pjilot's wings and decoration by the Chinese government for service in Chinese-American Composite Wing.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Warren Baking Company To Greatly Enlarge Local Plant

One of the big post war projects under way in this city soon will be the enlargement of the plant of the Warren Baking Company, Fourth avenue and Laurel street. The company now occupies a large building which covers all the land it owns at this location.

Plans have been prepared for the addition of one or two stories atop the present plant which is now using every available inch of space in the building. Steel frame work will be installed in the lower portion of the building to carry the additional load imposed by the new addition.

The construction will conform to the materials and type of architecture and will when completed afford the company much needed additional space for the ever-increasing business of the local concern.

Warren Baking Company operates a fleet of trucks from the local plant which cover a large area in this end of the state and hundreds of miles are driven daily by the men in making deliveries. In addition to the trucks that operate from the local plant a garage was recently built at Clarion in which are housed trucks used in that section. Supplies for the Clarion drivers are carried to that town with large semi-trailers that leave early each day and return in the afternoon from Clarion.

The new addition will allow the company to greatly increase its output of its famous breads and the cake and cookie departments can also be given additional attention. Demand is ever increasing for the Warren firm's products and growing trade has forced the company to make the enlargement on which work will begin as soon as possible.

The average income of Napoleon III of France amounted to $14,219 a day.

Men and Women In the Service

NOW IN NAGOYA

Pfc. Thomas Offerle, writing from Nagoya, Japan, to his mother, Mrs. Carrie E. Offerle, 113 Market street, states that he is now working in the regiment personnel section and a regular routine of duties and classes keeps him pretty busy. He writes that he does not know when he will be home, since portions of his outfit have been taken into the regular army and will be reassigned, while others will remain where they are for the present. In an imaginary trip about the city, young Offerle describes the main streets, with rows of buildings blown apart and small neat houses never touched. "Some bombardiers we have" is his comment. Stores sell anything from a sword to beautiful kimonos, chinaware and all the things that Japan has been noted for, and on the streets are kimonos and sandals everywhere. Another letter, dated November 28, states "the weather is cold and rainy, and very disagreeable. The food is now picking up but could be better with fresh butter, meat, eggs and milk. The barracks have oil stoves in the halls and this is swell".

Lee Carter To Head Show at Outing Club

You folks who read Charley Danver's column can remember the picture of a darned good looking girl which appeared the other day in connection with praise for being a clever dancer. That gal will be at the Marconi Outing Club this week and with a routine of character dances that should charm the crowd.

Others on the bill will be Frank Pattera, who is hailed as the Prince of Song in the clubs in and about Pittsburgh, where he has been going great guns for the past few months. He will also emcee the show at the Marconi Outing Club.

Reggie Saxe presenting a musical novelty act will complete the bill and he also comes with strong endorsement as to his ability by showmen of the Pittsburgh-Eastern Ohio district.

Plans are being considered for the holiday season at the club and Frank Williams, who handles the entertainment, anticipates that some delightful entertainment will be provided and that the New Years party will be a humdinger.

Kiwanis Club Gives Old Alias Santa Real Thrill By Big Check

Old Alias Santa Claus this morning rammed down the ashes in his pipe and found they were hot and quickly stuck his finger in his mouth and ejaculated "Just makes me think how tough it must be if you have no heat in your home and have a couple of small kiddies freezing around."

The old boy certainly lets little things remind him of the needs of the folks that he likes to aid and really he does give that fuel problem a lot of attention. It's just one of his good deeds of which he is daily doing many.

But this morning he wore a big grin as he opened up an envelope and scanned the check enlosed which was $50 from the Warren Kiwanis Club. "By crimminy, I feel that those Kiwanians gave me such a generous check inasmuch as they have a program of their own down at Rouse Hospital for the holiday season. They are a swell bunch of fellows and do a lot of good."

And he also got a couple of small gifts this morning both givers wishing to remain anonymous with gifts of $1 each.

The fund is growing but not quite fast enough to suit old Alias who lets it be known that he has a lot of work ahead that should be done for needy folk of the commuuity.

If you have not as yet made your gift please make it soon so that the old boy will know just how much money he will have to spend during the Merry Christmas season.

Memo to Bowery Santas: Don't Eat Onions or Garlic, Keep Your Beards Brushed

Sketch and Text
By JEAN GEORGE
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York, Dec. 10—Santa Claus lives in a flop house on the Bowery. His whiskers are false. He's got no reindeers. He's never seen the North Poale and he hates snow.

Furthermore, he is 18 different old men, and they all are messenger boys, odd job men, or they live on unemployment checks for 336 days of the year.

These confessions were gleaned from a chat with New York's sidewalk Santa Clauses at a breakfast party given by the Volunteers of America at their Bowery Community Center. It was a bit disillusioning to see so many Clauses.

Edward McIntyre, 66-year-old dean of the Santas, who will put his V. of A. chimney in front of Macy's this season, has been Clausing around the country now for about 14 years. He finds that long winter underwear is the best insulation against Christmas weather. The only time it failed him was on a street corner in Detroit, when the thermometer dropped to 30 below.

McIntyre said that he did not want to disillusion any children, but admitted that he had Claused for $25 one week at a movie house that was showing "Christmas in Connecticut."

At the maplewood table with McIntyre was oine of the few women Santa Clauses, Mrs. Phoebe Seabrook. Mrs. Seabrook went into the profession last year when the man power was at a low ebb, and liked it so well she will be back this year.

It is her job, she said, to see that the Santa Clauses start off in the morning with their beards brushed, and their white cuffs clean.

"That one is my favorite," she said pointing to one of the 18 red backs. "He keeps his sleeves clean for two days."

At breakfast the Santa Clauses were instructed in Santa behavior by Colonel William R. Apetz, the manager of the red and white outfit. "Don't eat onions or garlic," he counselled, "and don't slop all over the chimney."

The postmaster also warns that if the public expect the delivery of their gift parcels and greeting cards by Christmas day they must mail them at once, even those for delivery in Warren county and Warren borough should be dispatched by the 20th of December. Planes Seen Following Autos' Sales-Boom

The sale of private airplanes in the next 10 years is expected to zoom up like the sale of automobiles did during the decade 1900-1910, a comparable period of mechanical development, according to Flying magazine. Chart above, prepared from Civil Aeronautics Administration figures, shows rise of automobile sales, compared to curve for estimated plane sales. The estimate envisions more than 400,000 private planes in use during 1955.

Survey Shows What Factory Workers Think of Situation

New York, Dec. 13—Job preference for veterans and the 40-hour, 5-day week are favored by most factory workers who think that there will be more strikes during the next year or two, chiefly over wages. However, the workers believe that if management would cooperate with labor and get closer to the workers that the number of strikes would be reduced, according to the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company industrial magazine Factory Management and Maintenance. Hope is held for success of the labor-management conferences.

In the December issue the magazine points out that approximately three-fourths of all factory workers favor the 40-hour week despite the fact that some union leaders are demanding that it be cut to 30-hours.

The report, embodied in an article "What the Factory Worker Really Thinks," was based on a nation-wide personal - interview poll of workers throughout the manufacturing industries for which the editors of Factory retained the service of the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, N. J.

It was pointed out that while many profess to speak for labor yet the worker, as an individual nas a mind of his own. The report revealed that:

1. The majority of workers have never heard of the guaranteed wage, though most of them favor the idea, once it is explained to them, provided it does not mean lower wages.

2. Only about half the workers have ever heard of the Murray "Full Employment" Bill.

3. Ninety-five percent of all workers want to see veterans reinstated in their former jobs. And 61 per cent endorse "superseniority," which provides that the veteran shall be reinstated even if it means displacing a civilian who holds greater seniority.

4. Workers did not expect wage rates to rise following the end of the war and most workers would accept less money if jobs are scarce, which they believe will be the case when military demobilization is complete.

This is the second annual survey conducted by the magazine, Factory to obtain the thinking of the factory worker. The present survey reveals the following facts:

1. On Wages and Hours.

2. The worker favors the 40-hour, 5-day week.

b. He is not sure that wage rates will rise—and if jobs were scarce, he would probably accept less money.

c. The majority of workers have never heard of the guaranteed annual wage.

d. They like the annual wage, idea, however—even if it means higher prices, but not if it means lower wages or fewer jobs.

2. On Strikes.

a. The worker thinks there will be more strikes, chiefly over wages.

b. He has his own ideas about the things top management and top labor leaders should do to reduce the number of strikes.

c. He holds some hope for the success of the national labor-management conferences at Washington.

3. On Full Employment.

a. The worker isn't sure there will be enough jobs next year to go around.

b. He greatly overestimates the number of jobs that factories provide.

c. He has seen a lot of layoffs and considers them unavoidable.

d. Only half the workers have heard of the Murray "Full Employment" bill.

e. When it is explained to them, they favor the idea.

4. On Veterans.

a. The workers wants to see the veteran get his old job back—even if it means displacing a civilian who has greater seniority.

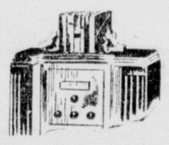

b. He thinks some preference should be given to veterans who have never had jobs before—but not to the extent of laying off civilians to make room for the veterans.

Two Cars of Grain Train Are Damaged in Wreck Today

Train 581 westbound over the Pennsy this morning was one hour and 56 minutes late in arriving in Warren due to the derailment of two cars in a grain train at 12:45 a. m. The wreck took place within one mile of where yesterday's pile up took place near Wetmore. The 29th car in the grain train was derailed and damaged and the 30th car in the train was pulled off and damaged. Reports say that the wreck was not due to the conditionn of the track nor was the track damaged. The wrecking crew from Ridgway was called to the scene and the track was cleared at 7:30 this morning.

The westbound passenger train was held in Kane until the track was opened allowing it to proceed and the east bound train moved on schedule.

Tracks were cleared yesterday afternoon after the wreck of yesterday morning, when cars of a grain train were piled up. The tracks were opened at 5:42 yesterday afternoon and eastbound passenger traffic moved on schedule.

Yesterday's wreck caused extentive damage, but the cause has not been ascertained. However it is believed that a truck or wheel climbed off the track at the switch of the E. and E. Coal Company at Wetmore, causing cars to plow into a cinder car that was on a siding. The cinder car was of metal and it undoubtedly prevented a more serious pile up. However, one of the cars was tossed up an embankment and the others piled up on the tracks. Some of the wooden cars were demolished and coffins and furniture were tossed about.

The wrecking crews from Warren and Ridgway with about 100 men worked in near zero weather to clear the tracks. Cranes tossed damaged cars to one side and crews worked on repairingn the tracks.

Shovel Walk Or Pay Fine Says Burgess

For years on end Warren has had on its ordinance books one that provides for the clearing of snow from sidewalks. Annnually dozens of folks waded through uncleaned walks until the street employes got around to cleaning the walks. Bills were then sent to the folks who didn't shovel and they paid. However, this year, due to the inability to secure help the street department cannot spare men to care for the uncleaned walks. Accordingly Burgess Steber has directed the police to report any uncleaned walks and fines will be imposed as provided by the ordinance.

Chief of Police Haehnn, in accordance with the orders issued, has instructed all patrolmen to report any uncleaned walks and fines will be imposed. The borough does not wish to be unreasonable in imposing fines, but it is felt that the walks should be cleaned as early in the day as possible.

Most of the towns and cities in this section provide plows driven by tractors or horse drawn and walks are cleaned by the city. Jamestown uses tractors, in Corry a jeep is used, while Kane uses a motor driven contraption and most towns use horse drawn plows. It was suggested last winter that Warren borough take over the complete street cleaning job and relieve the householders of this duty. However, no action was taken.

CRAWFORD COUNTY OUT OF DISTRICT

The following from this mornings Titusville Herald will be read with interest here:

Jesse Smith of Warren, referee under the Workmen's Compensation Act, held a hearing yesterday afternoon at City Hall in the case of Russell Daugherty, who was injured on Dec. 2, 1943, while employed at the Perry Forge of the Struthers Wells Corp. Daugherty was represented by Attorney Edward J. McDonald.

Yesterday's trip will be the last for Mr. Smith to Titusville as of January 1, Crawford county, is to be taken from Mr. Smith's district and added to that of Referee Harvey Moore of Sharon, who has served Mercer, Lawrence and other counties for several years. With Crawford county removed, Mr. Smith will still serve ten counties.

Mr. Smith succeeded E. H. Beshlin of Warren as referee about seven years ago and on his trips to Titusville for hearings several times yearly he has made many friends who will regret his leaving.

Columbus Man Is Exonerated By Grand Jury

Harold D. Jaquith, of Columbus was cleared of all criminal responsibilities in the automobile collision that resulted in the death of Mrs. Winifred Covey, of Niobe, N. Y., on November 12th by the Chautauqua County Grand Jury. Report on the case was received when the Jury convened this week.

The decision was pleasing to the friends of Mr. Jaquith who were familiar with the circumstances of the accident when Jaquith drove through a "stop" sign at a road intersection on the Sugar Grove-Chautauqua road and crashed into the car of Kenneth Fuller, of Watts Flats in whose car Mrs. Covey was a passenger.

At the preliminary hearing held at Lakewood the evening after the accident. Jaquith had entered a plea of guilty and had frankly admitted that he was not familiar with the highway where the accident occurred and had not seen the stop sign. Since the accident it is known that the Columbus man had made a generous restitution to the Watts Flats car owner replacing the latter's machine with another car, and that he had also taken other steps toward making all possible amends within his resources.

The Chautauqua county grand jury evidently found, after hearing the facts on the case, that there was no culpable circumstances for which the Columbus man should face trial in criminal court and brought in a report of "no bill of indictment," thus clearing Jaquith of the charges.

Chapter 24

[Tuesday 5:58 a.m. to 6:45 a.m.]

SHE didn't know whether she had slept or not before she was disturbed again. Shadowy dreams and elusive thoughts were blended together imperceptably. She was at the door in a moment.

"It's Detective Horowitz, ma'am. You're to dress right away and come with me. Inspector's orders."

"All right," she acquiesced and glanced at the clock on the night table. It was six o'clock. Events had taken on a nightmarish quality.

Shoes and stockings. Where were they. Her mind didn't seem to work. What had happened now? Oh, God, did this mean the end? Did it mean arrest? Then it all seemed quite clear to her. Alma—poor dazed Alma—had said something that made the Inspector believe he had sufficient evidence to arrest her.

She stood in her slip and surveyed the rack of dresses. Will they send me more clothes in jail? Some queer practical turn made her choose a sheer black woollen dress, simply made, in case she had to wear it a long time. The very fact of choosing it for that reason calmed her somewhat. Her fingers moved efficiently to dust powder over her face and smooth red paste on her lips. She didn't comb her hair—it took so long since she had worn her hair high on her head—but she checked her purse for a comb. I'll have plenty of time in the Bastille. It was astounding how one could accept incredible situations and go on doing perfectly ordinary things. She chose a black hat with a sash that fell to her shoulders in the back and covered her hair. Then a loose black suede coat—gloves—purse—

She looked into the mirrored door to the dressing room.

"Don't be a coward," she commanded her reflection.

Horowitz was waiting at the door. Two uniformed officers were in the salon. She stopped halfway across the room and said to them, "You'll find food in the ice box and Cook will be here soon to make coffee."

"Thank you, ma'am," said one and they both looked at her solemnly as if they knew she wouldn't be back.

Horowitz took her arm outside the apartment house and guided her to a police car. Whatever hope she had had evaporated when she got in and the detective followed her. She did not even asked where they were going. She already knew the answer.

The young officer who was driving turned the car into the park. This couldn't be the way to headquarters! She stole a glance at Horowitz. He was peering intently ahead.

IT was a gray, murky dawn. The air was cool and damp and a fog hung over the park. She thought fleetingly that it would be nice to walk through the park in the early morning. She had never done it and now perhaps—

Abruptly the car halted and there were some people standing around watched over by blue uniformed figures. Horowitz got out and helped her alight.

Dread so deep and black that it held her nerves paralyzed grew and spread within her. Unconsciously she lifted her chin and put her arm through the detective's before he had grasped hers. Together they went across the pavement and ascended a narrow stone path. The man went first and she tread after him.

"It's on up there," he directed Horowitz.

It was like walking slowly into doom.

The detective was puffing a bit when they reached a rocky ledge.

Several men were standing there and she recognized Inspector Venable among them. He came forward when he saw them.

"I wanted you for identification before the body was moved," he said.

A man with a camera pushed by them and went on down the path.

"Who is it?" breathed Julia. She could taste horror in her mouth and she smelled it in the thick damp air of the fog.

"Moore, I think." His eyes found Horowitz. "You should have prepared her," he told him and Julia was somehow strengthened by the anger in his voice.

"You didn't give orders, Inspector."

The men on the ledge stood aside and waited for her to come on. But her feet were glued to the rocky path. Only when the Inspector took her arm in an urgent grasp could she move.

The thing that lay huddled before her was only a dark mass against a large rock higher than the men who stood by it. Then her eyes focussed on a bald head. It was perfectly hairless and there was an ugly darkish dent in the back although the skin was not broken. She thought she screamed but only a gurgle sounded in her throat. The Inspector's hand tightened on her arm.

The corpse wasn't Moore, of course. Moore had lots of hair—lots of hair—lots of—

She pulled herself back from that brink of hysteria. She filled her lungs with the damp air and tensed her muscles.

"It isn't Moore."

The sound of her own voice was strange and her eyes swept those men before her to see if they thought it queer also. They looked like ominous priests at a ceremony where a human sacrifice had been offered.

"If you look more closely I believe you'll agree with me that it is. The men found him when they were looking for Miss Pratt and I noted the resemblance instantly," the Inspector said steadily. "Turn the head around farther, Riley, so she can see the features better."

A man stooped and moved the head so the face was toward Julia. He snapped a flashlight and revealed small features in a large flabby face.

An exclamation escaped her.

"It looks like—no, I can't—I don't know. How could it be Moore?"

GI Weds Italian Baroness

Shopping At High Peak In Warren Stores

Shopping in tse stores of the city has reached a high peak and cash registers are jingling in a way that is most warming to the heart of the merchants. A record Christmas business is in the making. Next Friday evening stores of the city will start remaining open evenings until the Christmas season comes to an end at 6 p. m. on December 24. By that time corns and bunions of the tired clerks will be barking for a respite and shoppers too will cease their endless chase for gifts.

There has been little shoplifting reported in the local stores perhaps due to the plainclothes activities that have been in effect this year. The petty thieving has been kept down to a minimum due to the arrangement perfected which has been found to work well. A few instances have been noted and the persons picked up and their names added to the list of those who are on the suspect rolls.

The wintery weather has seemingly added to the Christmas spirit and with the displays of trees and greens for the season Christmas is really in the air.

Pupils Donate Cans of Food For Relief

Warren school students, responding to the call for assistance in the collection of canned foods for overseas relief, brought to their individual buildings on Tuesday a total of more than 1,500 cans of edibles.

By buildings, totals were as follows: High school, 95; Beaty, 161; East, 306; Home, 115; Johnson, 225; Lacy, 326; McClintock, 109; Seneca, 51; South, 270; total, 1,552.

While Tuesday was the day specially designated for this school collection, some children failed to bring their donations on that day. Those who missed the collection may still add to their building's total by bringing cans on Thursday.

Month Brings But Few New Agency Cases

The monthly report presented by the Warren Visiting Nurse to the board of directors showed only three new cases had been added in the month of November, bringing the total for the month to 27. Chronic medical again headed the list of classifications, with 23, acute medical, communicable, tuberculosis and sunshine lamp cases each counting one.

The nurse made 107 nursing visits, four social service and welfare visits, eight calls at night and three on Sunday for a total of 122. In addition to this, she gave six sunshine lamp treatments.

Special activities included assistance with four child health clinics and one Needlework Guild directors' meeting. At the clinics, six new babies and two new children of pre-school age were examined, together with 20 babies paying repeat visits and several older children returning. Four child welfare home visits were paid in conjunction with this work.

Besides a $2 donation during the month, the directors acknowledge receipt of 774 articles of clothing from the Needlework Guild garment collection.

Leo McCarey May Do Picture About Some Other Religion

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Dec. 11—(AP)—A lot of people around Hollywood are asking what Leo McCarey can do now.

The handsome Irishman dominated the Academy Awards with "Going My Way" last year and he now has "Bells of St. Marys", which many believe is even better. After that, what could he do?

"I wish I knew," Leo told me. "When you make two pictures in a row that are well received, it's hard to know what to do next."

What about another religious picture?

"Yes. I'd like to do one about another religion. But I can't get an idea. And it has to be a good idea. If I made a picture that wasn't as good as the last two, they'd say 'look what McCarey does for the Catholics and what he does to us'."

The Hollywood press gals have once again brought out their selection for the most and least cooperative of the movie stars. Naturally the names on the plus side of the ledger—Joan Crawford, June Allyson, Dana Andrews and Gregory Peck—did not attract as much interest as those who were cited for the brushoff routine.

I can't agree with the girls on the female candidates. Mebbe the femme stars react differently to a male reporter. But I found Greer Garson extremely charming and cordial. Likewise Lauren Bacall was responsive to my questioning. She even whistled for me.

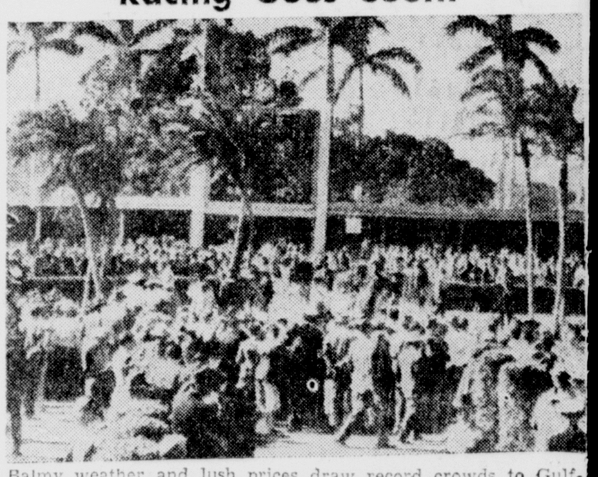

The male nominees are something else again. Fred MacMurray isn't impolite; he just doesn't give a hoot. Grilling him is like questioning an FBI man about his job. As for Ray Milland, he dosen't give a hang either, but he's not so charming about it.

DeWitt MacKenzie Discusses John Bull's Greatest Issue

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London—Britain's new labor government has tackled John Bull's greatest imperial problem—Indian independence—with a flying edge which looks as though it might go places.

Not only has the promise of self-government for India been reaffirmed before parliament, but the mother country has given its word that the vast India sub-continent will be allowed to cut loose entirely if it wants to.

Herbert Morrison, leader of the labor majority in the house of commons, has made the categorical declaration that Britain will not impose any restrictions on the power of India to decide her future. This was in response to the blunt question whether India would be permitted to withdraw from the British commonwealth if her leaders so desired. However, said Morrison, "it is naturally our hope that India will remain of her own free will in the British commonwealth."

All this was straight from the shoulder and unequivocal. But the Laborites didn't stop with words. They announced that a non-partisan parliamentary committee will proceed to India immediately to make independent observations and report back to the government. This would be in preparation for the formation of an assembly to frame an Indian constitution next spring after the provincial elections have paved the way.

Lest there be any misunderstanding, however, the government at the same time announced that it will resist "any attempts to resolve the constitutional issue by force."

This may have been inspired by the remark made last week by the Indian leader, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, that if Britain didn't take the initiative for India's independence, "other people" might do so. Next to Mohandas Gandhi, Nehru is the most powerful person in all India, and his words aren't passed lightly.

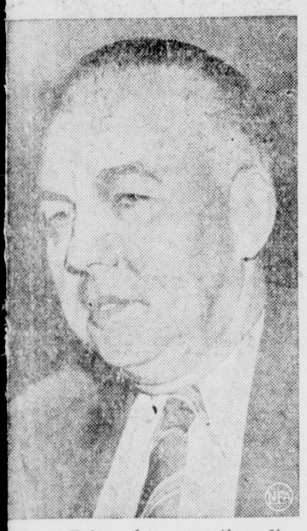

Well, where does all this get us on the Indian problem? Is this new move going to achieve results, or is it going to fizzle out as have so many other programs? We get a highly interesting slant on these questions from an editorial this morning in the Times of London, which for generations has been known as the Englishman's Bible. This staunch defender of the British empire deals with the matter in a lengthy article which says:

"A straightforward program has thrown open the door through which Indians can pass to complete and unfettered control of their own internal and external affairs."

That seems to sum the position up accurately and unemotionally. Those who have followed this column know it long has maintained that the Indian problem is susceptible ot solution—a view at which I arrived as the result of an intensive study beginning back in 1916.

However, it would be foolish to believe that there aren't many obstacles to overcome. One of the greatest of these has been the failure of the various Indian political factions to resolve their own differences.

McKenney On Bridge

ONE ERROR'S HUMAN; TWO ARE DISASTROUS

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Don't become upset when you fail to get the maximum out of a hand. Remember that it happens to the experts, too. I saw today's hand played in a duplicate game. Most of the East-West pairs bid and made six clubs, but one North-South pai rgot into four spades, which West doubled—and South proceeded to make it.

	♠ K J 5 ♥ K Q 9 4 ♦ 9 5 2 ♣ 9 6 3
♠ 6 ♥ J 7 5 3 2 ♦ K 6 ♣ Q J 10 7 4	N W E S Dealer	♠ A Q 4 ♥ A ♦ J 7 4 3 ♣ A K 8 5 2
	♠ 10 9 8 7 3 2 ♥ 10 8 6 ♦ A Q 10 8 ♣ None

Duplicate—Neither vul.

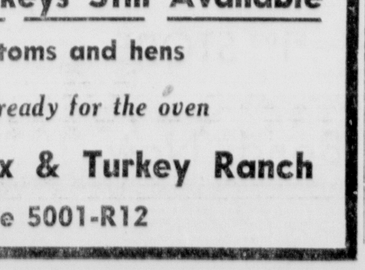

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	3 N.T
4 ♠	Double	Pass	Pass

Opening—♦ K. 13

The trouble started when West elected to open with a psychic club bid. East immediately had visions of a slam, but decided to take it easy and simply bid a diamond. East realized that something had gone wrong when he bid three no trump, but when South bid four spades and West doubled, he could not be blamed for leaving it in.

To make matters worse, West lost a valuable trick with his opening lead. In response to his partner's diamond bid, he led the diamond king. South won, led a spade and played the jack from dummy, and East won with the queen. He cashed the ace of hearts, then underled the ace-king of clubs, hoping to get his partner in so he could ruff a heart with the four of spades. But South trumped and led another spade. East won and, in desperation, led back a small diamond. South played him for the jack and let the trick ride to the nine-spot. Thus he lost only two spades and the ace of hearts.

WEST HICKORY

West Hickory, Dec. 10—Arthur Kinnear, brought in a fine 8-point buck on the first day of season, about 200 pounds, it was killed in the vicinity of the Red Bridge. Monday Theodore Nuttal brought in a fine 6 point buck and 18-year-old Howard Raybuck got the only bear in town. A nice black bear. He is having it skinned and made into a rug. The other hunters after going it steady and no buck, came in a little wet and disgusted.

Miss Marie Songler of Akron, Ohio, motored here to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stutley. The lady hunter enjoyed a little hunting trip, but did not see or bag any game.

Myrtle Rettig and Frank Hiwiller of Kittanning spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foringer, just in time to join the family at a birthday dinner for Mrs. Foringer.

Pfc. Merle Mooney spent Monday with his mother, Mrs. Thomas Mooney,, also called on his grandmother, Mrs. James Mooney who is ill. Mrs. Thomas Mooney assists in caring for her.

News from Cpl. George Dudick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dudick, tells us he is o. k. stationed in Alaska, and wishes to get home soon to join the pals already home.

Warren General Hospital Is Topic of Talk To Kiwanians

At the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Warren at the Carver House, Dr. Russell Elliott, president, introduced Fellow-Kiwanian R. Pierson Eaton, who is president of the Warren General Hospital, with the remark that Mr. Eaton had some information which would be of interest and help to his fellow-Kiwanians and the community served by the hospital.

Mr. Eaton said many people were seeking information as to the needs of the hospital, and when the campaign for improvements would take place and what the plans for the new buildings would be.

He traced the history of the hospital from its beginning in 1895, when it was opened under the name of "Door of Hope." The present hospital building was built in 1905 through the generosity of a few far-seeing public-spirited citizens. It is incorporated as a non-profit organization. It is managed by the Hospital Association, of which any citizen can become a member by paying the small membership fee. Since the hospital was built, it has been followed by a nurses' home and a maternity building, all of which was accomplished by the efforts and contributions of a few of Warren and Warren county citizens.

The original building housed forty beds, and though no addition has been made to the building, improvisation and ingenuity has been used to increase the number of beds to sixty and sometimes more. Beds have been placed in sun parlors, in the center of wards, private rooms have been made into semi-private rooms. The equipment has been crowded into places not built for it, and the kitchen arrangements are over-crowded continuously.

There is an ever-growing list of those who desire hospitalization, but have to wait until beds are vacant.

Mr. Eaton pointed out that this increase in the use of hospital service is by reason of hospital insurance, and modern medical practice for hospitalization. Here he commented that although the hospital is doing a splendid job, it is severely handicapped by lack of space. In pointing out an instance of over-crowding, he said the Mens' and Womens' eight-bed wards often have twelve beds in them. This does not allow a proper segregation of patients.

For some years the hospital board has realized that the hospital must have new buildings, as the over-crowding of its present facilities may lead to unfortunate consequences for the individual, and the community.

The Maternity building which has 39 beds and bassinets, even though many of these should be unoccupied, cannot be used for any other medical or surgical care.

To overcome these conditions and give Warren and Warren County a hospital building large enough to take care of the present demand and make provision for the future, the Board has decided to appeal to the citizens of Warren and Warren County to provide a fund of $400,000. Architects, expert in hospital building, submitted plans, and Mr. Eaton expressed confidence that when the public has the opportunity of seeing the plans they will readily support the campaign.

The new structure will add two wings to the present building, and the old building will be modernized in every way.

Mr. Eaton stated that the hospital has at no time appealed to the public for funds with which to build. All its present buildings and endowment fund have been provided for by a few. The endowment fund cannot be used for new buildings, and it would be foolish to do so as it provides an income which keeps the hospital on an even keel financially and avoiding repeated appeals to the public for financial assistance to meet current indebtedness.

At present a campaign is going on among the larger corporations as they are vitally interested in hospitalization for their employees. The 1945 tax situation also enters into larger contributions from corporations and individuals before the end of the year. When this part of the campaign is completed the public campaign will be launched.

More Snow Is Due Locally On Friday

With roads open for traffic in this section and all danger spots carefully cindered the storm that hit this section on Tuesday night seems to have passed for the present. However, the weatherman today promises that more snow is headed into this section and that snow will fall tonight and Friday.

Warmer temperature is expected this afternoon although the mercury is due to drop tonight over this section. Winds that helped pile snow into drifts in many sections of the county have dropped in velocity and are not expected to cause trouble during the next 24 hours.

Employes of the Highway Department here have already gone into their winter duty and a careful watch at all hours is kept for any dangerous developments over the county. One inch of snow alerts the plowman and cinder crews and it is hoped that the situation can be kept under control in better shape than in 1944.

Over 90 Injured In Troop Train Wreck

Chicago, Dec. 13—(AP)—Between 90 and 100 men, most of them negro sailors aboard an Alton railroad troop train, were injured last night when the train with some 250 navy personnel was rammed from the rear by a Pere Marquette railroad passenger train.

Most seriously hurt were three members of the train crew. The majority of the injured were given first aid at south side hospitals and the navy later removed them to Wesley Memorial Hospital for further examination.

The accident occurred about three miles from Chicago's loop on the south side as the 12-car troop train, enroute from the naval base at Bainbridge, Md., to the naval depot at Shoemaker, Calif., was switching from Baltimore & Ohio tracks to Alton tracks.

The Pere Marquette 10-coach train, pulled by two engines and headed for Grand Rapids, Mich., struck it. Four troop coaches and a sleeper were derailed and one sleeper overturned. The Pere Marquette train was not damaged.

Pullman Wants To Sell to Railroads

Philadelphia, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Pullman, Inc., still wants to sell its sleeping car business to a combine of 52 railroads despite opposition from the U. S. government and three other bidders for the $75,000,000 property, says George Wharton Pepper, its counsel.

A three-judge special expediting court today considered merits of thei four purchase proposals following end of a three-day hearing yesterday.

Pepper, in a closing argument in behalf of Pullman, who was ordered by federal court to sell its subsidiary sleeping service in an anti-trust decision, called the case "a matter of the most vital importance in the history of law."

The 80-year-old former U. S. senator from Pennsylvania asserted the court has no power to name a purchaser.

The U. S. government, however, represented by Holmes Baldridge, special assistant to Attorney General Tom Clark, insisted the three judges had the "right and duty" to select the buyer in the matter of "public interest."

MURPHY CO. PLANS SPLIT-UP OF STOCK

McKeesport, Dec. 13—(AP)—The G. C. Murphy Co. which operates a chain of retail stores with headquarters here, plans a four-for-one splitup of its common stock early next year.

Chairman Edgar M. Mack said yesterday the board of directors will submit to the annual meeting of stockholders on Feb. 26 a proposal for reclassification of common stock from an authorized issue of 500,000 shares of no par value to 3,000,000 shares of $1 par value.

He said if the change is made, present holders of common stock will receive three additional shares for each one held.

The company, which at last reports was operating 208 stores, has 480,500 shares of common stock outstanding.

Invitation To Rural Singers Of the County

Rural singers of Warren county will have a chance to be part of a 200-voice chorus, a feature of the opening program for the State Farm Show meetings on January 22, County Agent O. C. Tritt announces. He is asking for volunteers to have Warren county well represented in the first such corus ever attempted in Pennsylvania.

The rural chorus will feature the patriotic musical revue, "Dedication to Peace," specially written for the occasion by W. R. Gordon, extension rural sociologist of the Pennsylvania State College. All rural residents with vocal abilities, those with training, members of church choirs, Grange quartets or other musical organizations are invited and urged to join in the chorus.

The county agent has full details for the program, and says those volunteering to aid in the first state-wide rural chorus can begin practicing the numbers at home, in preparation for the full chorus rehearsal on the afternoon of January 22. The program will be presented in the Forum of the Education Building at Harrisburg, and the huge chorus will share the platform with Governor Edward Martin and other State officials speaking at the opening session of the Farm Show meetings.

Singers who volunteer will have the privilege of working under the supervision of an outstanding director. The county agent is making a roster of rural singers from the county, both men and women. Any singers interested are urged to enroll at the county agricultural extension office at the Court House as soon as possible.

YOUNGSVILLE NEWS

Youngsville, Dec. 12—Youngsville Business and Professional Women's Club held their annual Christmas dinner party Monday evening Dec. 10th at the Forge Club House. The club house was decorated in Christmas green. The large table was centered with a very pleasing arrangement of garlands of laurel and red lighted candles in glass candle sticks. Favors were small figures of Santa Claus made of red wool yarn and other materials of such size they could be used as Christmas coat decoration.

The Christmas party dinner committee consisted of Mrs. Rose Hubert, chairman; Miss Matilda Kamber and Mrs. Ruby Ransom prepared a delicious dinner with an eighteen pound turkey as the main feature. Shrimp cocktails were the first course followed by a dinner and salad course with a variety of vegetables and other good things, nutty by a delicious desert.

Following the dinner a short business session was held with Miss Gertrude Ostrosky presiding. Then came the fun of exchanging gifts with the final portion of the evening devoted to Christmas stories and Christmas carols.

HOME DECORATIONS

For the first time in several years Youngsville people feel free to decorate their homes within or outside for the Christmas season. The business section of the town is already very attractively decorated and a few homes have some form of lighted Christmas decoration.

For home decoration Youngsville Business People's Association are offering prizes of $10.00, $5.00 and $3.00 for the best decorated exterior of home in town. Decorations within the hoe which may be plainly seen through windows or glass door are also to be considered and for the inside decorations the prizes will be $5.00, $3.00 and $2.00.

The Business and Professional Woman's Club are now arranging for judges, from out of town, to judge these events, during the two or three days preceding Christmas, probably in Christmas week. In securing judges and arranging the judging the B.P.W. Club officers are working by request of the Business People's Association.

NEW OFFICERS

At the December meeting of the evening group of the W.C.S. held at the home of Mrs. Mirtie Kay and Mrs. Roy McDowell, the following officers for 1946 were elected: President, Mrs. E. C. Stillings; vice president, Mrs. Frank Black; secretary, Mrs. Vivian Smith and treasurer, Mrs. Belle Kay.

Features of the evening program centering around Christmas was the Christmas story in song; with this part of the program conducted by Mrs. Wave Carlson. Mrs. Stillings told a beautiful Christmas story of family life. Pleasing refreshments were served by the hostess and committee.

LOCALS

Peace on earth

"PEACE ON EARTH!"
How we've longed
to hear those words.
For four years, we were shut off
from the happiness they hold.
Peace? Gone.
The world was dark and grim.
Happiness? None.
Not with empty places
in our homes and in our hearts.

Christmas? No festive holiday.
But perhaps we learned
its deeper, spiritual side,
during the war.
Now that the war is over,
let's not forget. Let's remember
the solemnity of other Christmases.
Let us be thankful
for the return of
"Peace on Earth."

Sylvania Electric Products Inc. extends sincere good wishes to all its employees, friends and neighbors for a Merry Christmas and a Bright, Happy New Year.

Little-All-America Eleven Revived; 1 State Lad Named

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Dec. 13—(AP)—The south, placing five players, dominated the 1945 Little-All-America football team, revived today after a two-year hiberation because of the war. One Pennsylvanian, Bob Eyer, brilliant end for Lock Haven Teachers, won a first-team place. His home is in Beeche Creek Clinton county.

Eyer is one of only two freshmen on the first team. He previously was named on the AP All-Pennsylvania team.

Although many of the schools in this class have not yet returned to football since the return of peace, this year's Little-All-America need to offer no opologies to its predecessors—nor to many of the teams picked from players more in the public eye.

The squad, dotted with returned servicemen, includes a backfield ace who took over the coaching duties when his team's mentor became ill, and is further marked by the presence of two members of the stalwart Miami, Fla., University line on the first team.

The Florida outfit, spearheaded by a pair of senior forwards, Center William Levitt and Guard Ed Cameron, started the campaign as one of the smaller schools but with an ambitious football schedule. It wound up the season with eight victories, one defeat, one tie and a bid to the Orange Bowl.

Miami's post-war plans make this probably the last year the school and its players will be eligible for Little-All-America consideration.

Along with Levitt and Cameron on the first team are Theodore Molitor of St. Thomas in Minnesota, and Eyer of Lock Haven, Pa., Teachers, at end; Thomas (Bo) Stewart of Chattanooga and Robert Kirkman of Dakota Wesleyan, at the tackles; and Andy Kavounis of Presbyterian at the remaining guard post.

The backfield is comprised of Carroll Bowen of Catawba, at Quarter; Walter Trojanowski of Conecticut, the nation's leadeing scorer, and James Boswell of Oberlin, in the two halfback slots, and Walter (Old Reliable) Schlinkman of Texas Tech, at fullback.

The first team averages 21 5/11 years in age, a fraction under six feet in height and displaces 192 pounds per man.

Rousing Meet Urges Boost In Athletics

Post-war athletics and sports were in for resounding support here today following a rousing meeting held last night at the YMCA of some of the foremost boosters in the area of sports of all sorts.

Some 47 men attended the confab, the second since the organization of the group, and much enthusiasm over the prospects of the organization boosting, sponsoring, and keeping alive sports and other activities in the county was shown.

A committee was appointed by temporary chairman "Rusty" Elliott to draw up the by-laws of the organization and nominate officers for approval at the next meeting. The committee consists of Claude Schindler, Joe Gardner, "Pikey" Wright, John Berdine, Pete Fanaritis, Richard Schumacher, Bill Rice, Willard Foley, Lester Blair and Sidney Blackman. This committee also recommended that the following act as temporary officers until an election is held: chairman—"Rusty" Elliott; treasurer—Myron Jewell; secretary—Geroudl Ostergard.

Membership cards were distributed to all members present at last night's conference, and without a doubt there will be a membership of 200 when the group convenes again. The next meeting will be held sometime soon at the Y.

Snowshoes In Good Fettle For Hunters

Next Monday, December 17 the season on snow shoe rabbits will be ushered in for the hunters of this section. According to Game Protector George Norris Warren county has perhaps more snowshoe rabbits in its borders than most of the other counties in this section.

The snow shoes are bigger than the cottontails that are commonly known hereabouts and make their home in isolated barrens back in the hills. Only enthusiastic hunters, as a rule, get the snowshoes as they require some hard work to locate.

However, Mr. Norris states that the hunters who get out into the section where the snowshoes make their home will be well rewarded. There are plenty of snowshoes and they are in good shape awaiting the hunters.

Behind the Lines

AP All-State

For the first time in recent years, western teams dominate the Associated Press All-State scholastic football team. Eight of the eleven boys selected for the first team played on teams west of the Susquehanna River, including big Joe Zuravleff, spectacular lineman for Erie Technical. Zuravleff, whose pass-snagging won him fame on the Erie outfit this season and last, was named to the left end post.

Seven other local players received berths on the second and third teams and honorable mention. Bob Morgan, of Erie Academy, was named halfback on the second string, and Len Ekimoff and Pittsley, respectively of Erie Tech and DuBois, took positions on the third team. Honorable mentions went to Wachter, Erie Academy tackle; Oven, Ridgway guard; Dillman, DuBois center; and Swanson, Erie East back.

Munich Deer Hunter

Cpl. Frank W. Zawacki, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zawacki, Pittsfield, who is attached to the Occupation Forces in Munich, Germany, as a dental assistant in the Medical Corps, writes home of his deer hunting experiences "over there."

Zawacki relates that he was walking through the woods near his optpost and ran across three deer. Unable to load his gun in ample time to fire, he proceeded upon his way. He then saw two more, and again another. Zawacki shot one of the two, cleaned it and proceeded to return to camp. He says that the kill weighed between 50 and 60 pounds, but he still prefers good Pennsylvania deer.

Here's Your Chance

Perhaps sometime in your life you've had some sort of urge to write for a magazine; and, too, maybe you've never had the opportunity to do so. Come 1946, a new outdoor magazine will appear on the market, and it will deal primarily with the participating sportsman and outdoorsman, although the widest coverage will also be given to all sports and sport hobbies.

Articles and pictures on all phases of hunting, fishing, golf, sailing, yachting, motor boating, canoeing, tennis, dogs, shooting, sports aviation, and skiing will be emphasized.

The new magazine will be in the market each month for sizeable amounts of material, ranging from short, pithy fillers to articles of 2500 to 3000 words. Illustrated features will be particularly desirable.

Send your articles to: Eric Friedheim, Managing Editor, Sportsman Publication, 545 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

After much debate, the final score of the Warren-Youngsville game has been changed from 54-14 to 56-14. A basket was not credited to substitute Gail Nelson in the origin.l score. All together, the Dragon team has recorded a total of 189 pounts in four games, an average of 45 and 4/5 points per game. The opponents have racked up only 98 markers, an average of 24½ per contest. In other words, the locals have optpointed their rivals by 21 and 3/8 points per game. . . . General Condition Of Patton Is Good

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 13—(AP)—The commanding officer of army hospital where Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., is under treatment for paralysis, said tonight there was "a good chance" that the American commander might be on his feet again.

The fracture of the vertebra in Patton's neck was reduced, he said, but it is still impossible to determine how much damage was done to the spinal cord.

Doctors in attendance said the general had spent a good night and that his general condition remained satisfactory, with no complications.

The medical bulletin indicated, however, that there had been no marked change in the paralysis from which Patton is sufferi g as the result of a broken neck sustained in an automobile accident last Sunday near Mannheim.

The noon bulletin said the general had a good night and is cheerful and alert.

Jap Skipper Questioned At Court Martial

nounced he was ready to call the Japanese officer, Iko Hashimoto, the chief defense counsel, Capt. John P. Cady, entered formal objection to the "idea of calling an officer of an enemy force noted for despicable treachery" to testify against an American naval officer.

He objected to admitting the Japanese testimony against McVay "on a question involving his entire future career."

He said he felt sure he was expressing the feelings of all American citizens and especially those who served in the armed forces, against "any such spectacle."

Hashimoto was the skipper of enemy submarine I-58, which the Japanese have claimed sent the Indianapolis to the bottom with every man aboard either killed, missing or wounded.

Guffey Speaks At Farmers' Meeting

Altoona, Dec. 13—(AP)—Sen. Joseph F. Guffey (D-Pa) told Pennsylvania farmers last night they should give "support to the battle" labor unions "are making for a fair share of the wealth they produce."

Addressing a two-day conference of farm representatives from the commonwealth's 67 counties studying next year's production goals, Sen. Guffey declared one of their most important goals should be "to enlist your sympathies in support of the effort labor is making to better its economic status through proper and just demands."

Guffey said the record of food grown during World War II showed the farmer's problem "is not one of production. The farmer's real problem is markets."

Clyde A. Zehner, chairman of the state committee of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, told the 200 representatives that the 1945 goals for milk, chickens, eggs, wheat, rye, hogs, turkeys and other crops were exceeded while many other goals were approximated.

DEFENDANT IN RADIO MURDER ENTERS PLEA

Uniontown, Dec. 13—(AP)—Blair Krieger, 71, defendant in the "radio slaying" Oct. 26, in front of his home near here, will tell his story of the rifle death of John Molchan, 53, of Uniontown, at a juryless trial before Judge E. J. McDaniel, beginning Monday.

Kreiger appeared before the court yesterday and pleaded guilty of murder, aggravated assault, and assault and battery. The prosecution indicated, before the plea was entered, it would seek to impose a penalty no greater than that for manslaughter.

Judge McDaniel will hear testimony to determine the degree of guilt.

Molchan was found dead of a bullet wound after he had gone to Kreiger's home to discuss how long and how loud a radio should play. Kreiger hid three days in a cornfield a mile from his home before officers placed him under arrest.

were exempted from the treatment by the order.

Other evidence submitted today showed Nazis used prisoners of war as munition plant workers in violation of international law.

American prosecutors produced documents showing that defendant Fritz Sauckel, the Nazi slave labor boss, reported in June, 1943, that prisoners of war formed a large element of the 800,000 foreign workers drafted for forced labor in armament plants in the previous five months.

Revealing that Hitler's policy of enslavement of conquered peoples met with resistance, Sauckel declared in the report filed as evidence that "unfortunately quite a number of our officials and employes were victims of murders and attacks by partisans."

Eagles Plan Kiddies' Party Next Saturday

Warren Aerie of Eagles is planning for its annual Kiddies Party for children of the members in the Eagle building, and it is expected that there will be an immense crowd in attendance.

The affair will be limited strictly to children of the lodge members and a huge Christmas tree will be gaily decorated and piles of gifts will be found about it. Old Santa himself will be present and every kiddie will receive a treat.

The committee in charge is hard at work on the project and a joyly time is anticipated.

GIVEN PRISON TERM FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

Easton, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Thirty-seven-year-old Mark Peters, convicted of raping Mabel Harris, 15, of Philadelphia, was sentenced to 1½ to 3 years in prison.

Peters was charged with attacking the girl after he had picked up her and her companion, Myron Semunchick, 14—both escapees from Allentown State Hospital—as they walked along a road not far from Easton.

He denied the attack in court yesterday and asserted he signed a statement following his arrest which admitted the rape because "they had me all worried and I had no money for counsel."

Students Give Fine Program For Boosters

Special music arranged by Chairman Harry Summers for the Tuesday night meeting of Warren School Music Boosters Club, held in Beaty school auditorium, centered about the Christmas theme.

First on the program was a brass sextet, composed of Dale Soderberg, Bob Gibb, Bill Taylor, Henry Blick, Bill Erickson and Don White, playing "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen," "Deck the Halls," and "Good King Wenceslas." The next group was seven clarinets, Donlyn Baird, Bill Blair, Bill Fuellhart, Wayne Klenck, Elizabeth Bathurst, Wilmer Latshaw and Eddie Wood, playing Ernest Schmidt's "Menuetto" and a special arrangement of "O Holy Night." Heard in a double quartet were Nancy Maneval, Mary Mangus, Jean Smith, Carol Kirberger, Bob Huck, Harrison Wood, Lewis Lowe and Bill Hill. Their numbers were "O Holy Night," with Nancy Maneval as soloist; "A Babe So Tender" and "Before the Paling of the Stars." Concluding the student presentation was a choral ensemble of about 25 high school girls, singing "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming," "Christmas Lullaby," with Patty Dexter as soloist, and "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas."

For the brief business meeting conducted by President Creed Erickson, a report from William Glassman asked for a meeting of the incorporation committee previously named. Mr. Summers was named to succeed Harry Thurn on this committee and Basil White and Richard Smith were added to the group.

Mr. Summers invited all Boosters to the Christmas carol festival to be held at Beaty gym next Monday evening.

There was discussion concerning ways of increasing attendance at the monthly meetings and the members again voted a full-page advertisement for the Dragon.
